Brutal Police Raid Buddhists

(See also Page 2)

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Government combat police crossed their own barbed-wire barricades today and raided a Buddhist pagoda packed with 400 monks, nuns and their followers. The police carried away three Buddhists.

Buddhists took refuge in the Giac Minh pagoda after police broke up a demonstration Wednesday with clubs, rifle butts and kicks. U.S. security officers said the police acted with deliberate brutality that shocked and disgusted them.

President Kennedy expressed hope at his press conference for a settlement of the religious strife between the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic, and the Buddhists. The Buddhists accuse the government of religious persecution.

A threatened Buddhist demonstration outside the U.S. embassy failed to materialize by mid-morning.

Seventy policemen raided the pagoda as police reinforcements took positions throughout Saigon. Barbed wire and police guards kept the Buddhists from leaving the building.

Kennedy Tax Plan Hits U.S. Investment Here

Columbia Financing Unaffected

By FRANK RUTTER

B.C. expects to get a special deal from the U.S. government on financing the Columbia River power project that will not be affected by President Kennedy's new tax, Attorney-General Bonner said today.

But, he said, Canadian interest rates will probably stiffen as a result.

The tax also "isn't helpful" to Canadian firms seeking funds in the U.S., he added.

"This is proof positive that anti-American statements produced for Canadian consumption do cross the 49th parallel and produce results elsewhere," Mr. Bonner said.

He termed it a result of the Canadian sport of pulling the eagle's feathers."

The Kennedy tax—up to 15 per cent on long term borrowing by Canadians in the U.S.—is expected to boost U.S. interest rates by 1 per cent.

DIRECT EFFECT

This could have a direct effect on future provincial financing, and definitely will on business deals.

The provincial government recently marketed school bonds in the U.S. for 4.79 per cent.

This was the lowest interest rate obtained by anyone in Canada for two years.

However, most B.C. financing in the U.S. during recent months has been of short-term issues—mostly for a three-month term.

Securities of less than three years' duration are exempt from the new tax.

Mr. Bonner said he does not believe there will be any significant effect on financing of either Peace or Columbia River power projects.

WITHIN COUNTRY

"On the Peace the bulk of the financing is within this country," he said.

(However, if Canadian interest rates rise, too, there could be some effect.)

"On the Columbia the basis of implementing the treaty is itself the subject of discussions with the American government at the highest level," Mr. Bonner said.

"I believe on this account the question of financing would probably lie outside a blanket policy aimed at traditional borrowing."

Asked if this meant B.C. expects a special deal from the U.S. government, Mr. Bonner replied:

"That is entirely to be anticipated."

On the question of financing other government agencies, Mr. Bonner said it would be easy to arrange borrowing within Canada.

B.C. Women Lose In Golf

OTTAWA — B.C.'s last three hopes for the Canadian women's open golf championship were knocked out of the running this morning.

Gail Harvey of Toronto, defeated Victoria's Marg Todd, 8 and 7; Montreal's Joann Riddell sidelined Barbara Renwick of Vancouver, 4 and 2, and, in the upset of the second round, Mrs. J. M. Netterfield of Manitoba, downed defending champion Gayle Hitchens at Vancouver on the 19th.

$1 INVESTMENT WILL 'DO IN' A FAMILY

Deadly Poisons for Sale

By LESLIE MILLIN
First of Two Articles

How much death can you buy for a dollar?

In Victoria today, you can buy enough to do in a small family and one or two friends.

If you have about $10 to invest, you can buy enough to kill everybody on your block.

You need no prescription, because the deadly chemicals in question can be bought at most supermarkets, any department store, a garden shop—no questions asked.

And if you're sufficiently subtle about using them, no one will ever guess the real cause of death, or suspect you.

What could be more innocent than buying weedkiller?

Concern over the use of poisons to kill weeds and insects for years, believing that the balance of nature might be upset by the injection of new chemicals into the cycle of life.

But a report to President J. F. Kennedy some weeks ago on the use of insecticides pointed out there were more immediate results.

There were about 100 known cases of death due to insecticide poisoning in the United States last year.

Not many, considering the U.S. population of nearly 200,000,000, said some.

... No Questions Asked

But these were known cases and doctors have no hesitation in saying that the vast majority of deaths due to poisoning by weed or bug killers are never even suspected.

It takes such minute quantities to kill that unless specifically looked for, they are almost never noticed.

To underline the danger, a two-year-old girl died in a Vancouver hospital last week, after doctors worked six days to save her life.

She had swallowed three-quarters of an ounce of a garden spray containing malathion, and not even immediate attention—her father is a doctor—and the most modern drugs could save her.

The same concoction she swallowed could be bought in Victoria today. It costs a dollar and a half for 15 ounces.

A gallon of it costs $9.38.

Malathion is related to nerve gases, like the mustard gas used in the First World War.

This is what Dr. Peter Cooper's book, "Poisoning by Drugs and Chemicals," has to say about its effects:

"Headache, dizziness, general weakness, eye impairment, tremors, vomiting.

Seeks to Cut Dollar Drain

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy, in a surprise move, asked Congress today to levy an immediate tax—up to 15 per cent—on the purchase by United States citizens and residents of stocks and bonds issued in Canada and 21 other industrialized countries.

The aim is to help stop the critical outflow of U.S. dollars and gold.

The U.S. Treasury said the tax will apply to both new and outstanding issues. It will not affect purchase by Americans of U.S. stocks held by Canadians.

Since it would take Congress several weeks or more to pass the enabling tax legislation, the new tax would be made retroactive to Friday when it would go into effect. It would not be deductible as an expense from normal U.S. income tax returns.

Kennedy's recommendation was certain to have an immediate impact on international financial markets because it would affect U.S. investments currently approaching the rate of $2,000,000,000 a year.

It would amount to 15 per cent of the purchase price of foreign stocks sold in the United States.

On bonds, the tax would be graduated from 2.75 per cent on three-year maturities to 15 per cent on those maturing in 28½ years.

RAISES INTEREST

Kennedy told Congress this tax, expected to yield about $100,000,000 annually, would be equivalent to an extra one per cent in interest cost to Canadians and others usually borrowing in the U.S. because of lower rates. The higher cost would tend to force borrowers to try to raise more capital at home or look elsewhere for capital, particularly in Europe.

Canadian borrowings in the United States have risen steadily partly because of Canada's 1962 dollar problem and partly because of heavy provincial borrowings, including Quebec's big issue to finance the takeover of private power operations.

Without mentioning Canada by name, Kennedy said the ris-

Toronto Plunges Over 15 Points

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market stumbled heavily today on news of the proposed United States taxes on American investments in foreign securities.

The industrial index—compiled from 20 representative stocks—was down 15.29 at the close with many stocks losing more than $2 a share.

Among the mid-afternoon declines were:

Economic Slowdown

MONTREAL (CP) — Eric Kierans, president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, said today Canada can expect a "slowing down in economic activity" if the proposed U.S. excise tax on American purchases of stocks and bonds in this country is implemented.

Mr. Kierans called on the Canadian government to try to counteract the effect in Canada of the excise tax by increased spending and lower interest rates.

Higher interest rates in Canada seem inevitable. As a result we can expect a slowing down in economic activity at a time when we already have high unemployment. It would appear that the Canadian government will have to stimulate the economy by increased expenditures and an easier monetary policy.

Given such action, the wisdom of retaining a fixed exchange rate becomes questionable."

East Germans Arrive On Test Talks Scene

MOSCOW (AP) — Big three negotiators met late and quit early today in their efforts to hammer out further details of a limited nuclear test treaty.

The session at Spiridonovka Palace lasted only one hour and 25 minutes. It was the shortest of four to date.

U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and Lord Hailsham of Britain were engaged in a serious conversation as they departed.

The meeting opened 30 minutes later than usual.

SPY DEFECTON CLAIM RIDICULED BY SOVIET

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today ridiculed the report that Anatoly Dolnytsin had defected to the west with Soviet spy secrets.

The newspaper published a photograph of a person identified as Dolnytsin and said it was taken today on a balcony of the Izvestia office.

The defection of Dolnytsin was revealed by government sources in London last Friday. At the time it was said he was understood to be still in Britain and possibly in danger of retaliation from Soviet agents.

B.C. Budget Surplus Hits All-Time High

B.C. was riding the crest of a boom that bulged its cumulative surplus account to more than a record $56,000,000 at the very time its critics were accusing the province of going broke.

Proof of the province's best-ever financial year was disclosed in an analysis today of figures that were disclosed in the prospectus for B.C.'s new parity bond issue this week.

Premier Bennett's 1962-63 budget piled up a tremendous surplus of revenue over spending.

At one stage the total hit $56,495,869 in the province's revenue surplus account.

The surplus for the fiscal year which ended March 31 alone topped $27,500,000.

Then Mr. Bennett decided to remove the tolls from five provincially-owned bridges by completely paying off their debt.

This trimmed his surplus, but he still was left with $11,907,000 for 1962-63 alone, and the revenue surplus account became $24,936,474.

It took more than $31,000,000 to pay off the bridge debt—all cash on the nail.

Last summer a fierce financial attack was launched on the province.

CITRUS PROVED WRONG

Critics both within and without charged B.C. was going broke, that it could not meet its obligations.

AS MARKETS SHRINK

Record Wheat Crop To Present Problem

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's wheat harvest this year may be a whopping 750,000,000 bushels or more compared with the record 702,000,000 bushels in 1952, officials here suggest.

They say that the estimate appears sound even if nature takes a turn for the worse, producing lower-grade grain.

Conversations have begun with the United States, Canada's main wheat export competitor, about a meeting in late summer or early fall to discuss the wheat situation generally at the ministerial level.

These two facts indicate the assets and the problems involved in the prospects for a bumper Prairie crop at a time when world supplies generally have risen and abnormal export opportunities have begun a decline.

This situation marks the end of a wheat honeymoon for Canada, brought about by a combination of foreign demand led by Red China, and a 1961 Prairie drought that bit deep into grain reserves.

MAY RAISE CAIN

Hence the probability that the Conservative opposition in the Commons is preparing to raise Cain about the election campaign pledge of the Liberals for an immediate implementation of $2-a-bushel wheat—for No. 1 year.

Inequalities Draw Teacher Criticism

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian Teachers' Federation says inequalities in Canada's school system are becoming a cause for national concern.

In a pamphlet released at the federation's annual conference here, the group claims the system has spawned "a patchwork of educational opportunities."

The federation says that in B.C., total expenditure per child is $34, compared with $132 in Newfoundland.

"It allows some children opportunities for an excellent well-founded education. It denies others the opportunities for developing their individual potentialities."

"Every citizen should be aware of the situation; indignant at the inequalities and concerned over their solution. This is strictly not a local problem, nor even a provincial one. It is national, and therefore demands a solution co-ordinated all the while the government was piling up a record revenue of $361,911,000.

Its expenditures for the '62-'63 year totalled $350,004,000—and that includes $15,671,521 to pay the debt on three of the five bridges, Okanagan, Agassiz-Rosedale and Nelson.

Legislation approved at this year's session prescribed their debt should come out of consolidated revenue for the past year.

The legislation allowed payment of the debt on the other two, First and Second Narrows in Vancouver, out of the revenue surplus account. That amounted to $15,867,874.

NEST EGG FOR FUTURE

The remaining kitty, which can be used in future budgets, is $24,936,474.

Fuller details will be announced in about two weeks when the finance department publishes its annual review.

This year's review, about to go to the printer's, will be a special fancy edition with full color plates, similar to the show budget put out for the premier in March.

The review will give some idea where the big revenues came from.

Mr. Bennett had estimated he would get only $336,000,000 in 1962-63.

This was an under-estimate of $25,900,000.

He had estimated he would need to spend $356,141,348.

This was a $6,000,000 over-estimate. If the bridge debt is not counted, it was a $21,000,000 over-estimate.

Canada will close out its crop year July 31 with sale of an estimated 325,000,000 bushels, 354,672,000 and 346,846,000 in the three previous years and officials predict a lower figure next year despite current negotiations in Hong Kong for a new long-term deal with China, plus pending sales to Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Negotiations with Russia on a new three-year trade agreement, in which wheat has played a major part, might also add several million bushels next year.

PREDICT LOWER SALES

But the figure lies below total of 358,000,000 bushels, 354,672,000 and 346,846,000 in the three previous years and officials predict a lower figure next year despite current negotiations in Hong Kong for a new long-term deal with China, plus pending sales to Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The People's Debts

PARLIAMENT IS PREPARING to take a new look at the personal debts of Canadians. The federal government has wisely proposed a parliamentary committee, representing the House of Commons and the Senate, to study all aspects of consumer credit and the laws governing it. It is high time for such a study.

According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the Canadian people owed, on March 31 last, the almost unbelievable sum of $3,664 millions in installment credit of all sorts, including bank and home improvement loans. Every man, woman and child in the nation thus carries a personal debt, on average, of about $200.

Whether these facts are considered good or bad, they are certainly important. Presumably what the government wishes to find out, by a careful, non-partisan examination, is how the present vast pool of credit is affecting the national economy and the people who owe the money.

Certainly there is need of reform in the management of credit extended to persons who may not thoroughly understand the commitments they are assuming.

As in four previous years, Senator David Croll is again asking the Senate to initiate a very simple reform. It would merely compel credit granters to disclose the rate of interest charged on their loans.

While Senator Croll was making no visible progress in the upper chamber, nine bills of the same sort were introduced in the House of Commons, received strong support on all sides but were allowed to die on the order paper because the government of those days was not prepared to accept them.

Meanwhile Manitoba has decided to enforce, on September 1, a law compelling credit granters to state in dollars and cents the amount of interest charged to any borrower when he enters into a contract.

Surely this makes good sense. It is all very well, and quite true, to say that person who signs such a contract can figure out for himself what he will have to pay in interest, in carrying charges, finance fees and the rest. But the fact is that many persons fail to understand what they are getting into and contract obligations that they can ill afford to pay, often with distressing results later on.

No one is proposing to restrict the right of any business firm to extend credit to customers and such credit has become an essential feature of our whole merchandising system. But there is no sound reason, as Senator Croll argues, why the customer should not be told in advance not only the price of his purchase but the extra cost of financing it over a period of months or years.

Anyway, a parliamentary committee will soon look into this and all other aspects of the credit problem which may seem, at first glance, a remote matter of concern only to economists but are, actually, an immediate problem in most Canadian homes. Out of this study, it is to be hoped, will emerge some useful safeguards for the unwary borrower.

Rear-Guard Action to Delay

THE testimony of Governor Barnett of Mississippi before the Senate Committee, like a good caricature, reveals by its exaggeration and distortion the inner fallacy of the irreconcilable opposition to civil rights legislation. The governor's theory is that the Kennedy brothers, acting under impulsion from Moscow, have stirred up the Negro demonstrators. If instead the Kennedys would order the Negroes to desist, to shut up and be quiet, there would be no problem of civil rights, the racial conflict would disappear and the civilization of the white man would be preserved.

Stripped of the nonsense about Moscow, which only the lunatic fringe believes, there is a substantial minority in the country, perhaps even more than a minority in the deep south, who believe what Governor Barnett believes. That is to say they believe that the Kennedys are encouraging the demonstrations and that they could, if they wanted to, call off the demonstrations. This is what the most important southern leader, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, believes.

It is by way of being a national calamity that Senator Russell is using his great authority to prevent any important and responsible southern politician from taking a constructive and leading part in the solution of this national problem. To say that the problem would not exist if President Kennedy lectured the Negro leaders about law and order is for a man like Senator Russell to hug a fatal illusion.

The fatal illusion is to believe that the Negroes have no grievances which they cannot be forced to put up with as long as it suits the white majority not to redress the grievances.

The fundamental and controlling fact of the matter is that there is a new generation of Negroes who will not put up with their ancient grievances. President Kennedy did not invent these new Negroes, and he does not now incite them. On the contrary, as the record shows, he intended to do nothing substantial by legislation in this session of Congress. He was forced by the Negro demonstrations in the spring to take charge of a menacing situation.

The President's assumption of leadership was not, as Governor Barnett and even Senator Russell seem to think, a case of meddling with a situation which would best be left alone. The situation cannot be left alone. The Negroes will not subside.

Their demonstrations, which will intensify and expand, will incite counter-demonstrations by white people. All this, while it does not threaten the overthrow of the republic, does threaten the peace and order of American life.

Confronted with this national trouble, it is the duty of the national government to seize the situation firmly and energetically and, by insisting that evil be righted and that justice be done, to uphold law and order. Law and order will not be upheld by lecturing or arresting Negro demonstrators. It can be upheld only by redressing their undoubted grievances.

It should be evident to anyone who examines the problem that the process of desegregating schools, jobs and public accommodations is in many respects complex and difficult. Undoing an old evil, which has the sanction of custom, often creates new problems. These new problems cannot always be clearly foreseen, and it is therefore of crucial importance that all the responsible southern white leaders should not disqualify themselves by diehard opposition. These white leaders are needed to play a constructive part in the future.

Senator Russell is a key man here. For there are good reasons to think that if he decided to turn away from irreconcilable opposition toward the willingness to help solve the problem, there would be other political leaders in the south who would follow suit.

Reading the record, it is evident that Senator Russell is not really a diehard, even though he looks like one. Six years ago, in the summer of 1957, there was an Eisenhower civil rights program. It dealt chiefly with Negro voting and school desegregation. It did not include, as the 1963 civil rights bill does, a section on public accommodations.

It is interesting to note that in 1957 Senator Russell was just as vehement about school desegregation as he is today about motels and lunch counters. The 1957 bill "could result in placing many southern communities under martial law if they should fail to submit to what they regard as the destruction of their society . . ."

Now Senator Russell is reported to be prepared, though of course he does not like it, to swallow legislation which will enable the attorney general to act for the United States in desegregating schools. The monstrous danger to him, and the one which would destroy society, is now the desegregation of motels and lunch counters.

On the record, Senator Russell is, I submit, not a diehard for an ultimate principle. He is rather a man fighting rear-guard action to delay, as long as he can, the inevitable righting of an ancient, and no longer defensible, wrong.

Senator Russell is capable of doing better than that.

PEN-PRINT OF HAILSHAM

Bright Mind on Test-Ban Job

WHAT sort of man is Lord Hailsham who has gone to Moscow with Averell Harriman to seek a test ban treaty? This question in Britain answers itself.

Around Hailsham's head have broken many political storms, and sometimes he has provoked the lightning. He stands for certain definite values in British politics, with a dash and impact that carry the signature of his own imperious spirit. He will be no mere echo in the Moscow talks but will make his presence felt in the discussions by the swift precision of his speech and the fulminant of his argument. It may be useful therefore to know more about him.

Toryism to Hailsham is far more than a casual political loyalty. It is a habit of mind, a reflection of his temperament, the shadow of his philosophy. The history of the Conservative Party is as familiar to him as today's headline. He knows all about its sounding names and brave deeds and reverberating mistakes. He is a scholar and intellectual who can exchange epigrams with students at Oxford or trade insults on the political platform. He is a formidable foe and chivalrous ally. In 1933, partly as a prank, partly as an expression of discontent with existing policies, the Oxford Union put up for debate the motion that "this house will not fight for king and country." A garrulous philosopher named Joad supported the motion and Hailsham, then Quintin Hogg and only 26 years old, opposed it. The students voted against their king and country.

This simply won't do. Until the existence of Manipogo, like that of Caddy, has been fully proved beyond peradventure of a doubt he cannot be recognized and it is even conceivable that he does not exist at all. In these serious, scientific matters the facts must be kept straight, regardless of misguided local patriotism.

the cynical curators will be sternly reprimanded by Mr. Bennett. But let that pass.

The point of the pathetic editorial in the Free Press is that Manitoba has tried to imitate our Caddy, despite all the laws of patent and copyright. In Lake Manitoba, we are asked to believe, there lives a monster hopefully christened Manipogo (an obvious plagiarism on our second prodigy whose post office address, like that of a third, is Kelowna.) Therefore, says the envious Free Press, the Manitoba government should officially recognize Manipogo in the interests of science and, incidentally of course, the tourist trade.

This simply won't do. Until the existence of Manipogo, like that of Caddy, has been fully proved beyond peradventure of a doubt he cannot be recognized and it is even conceivable that he does not exist at all. In these serious, scientific matters the facts must be kept straight, regardless of misguided local patriotism.

This remark raises the nasty suspicion that the museum is enjoying a sly joke and, if so, we hope

Parliament, where he had been elected for the city of Oxford in 1938, to fight with the Rifle Brigade in the Middle East, being severely wounded in 1941.

As a young man he left no doubt on anyone's mind of his brilliance, sometimes wayward, always impressive. After winning many prizes at Eton and then as an undergraduate, he became president of the Oxford Union in 1929. Two years later he was chosen as a Fellow of All Souls College, one of the highest academic distinctions open to anyone in Britain. In 1932 he brought his gifts of logic and eloquence to the practice of law.

In the House of Commons he was one of the few men on the Tory side who could debate on terms of rough equality with Aneurin Bevan, the audacious swordsman of the Labor Party. They had many qualities in common. Both were imaginative, compassionate, courageous, literary, and eloquent; and both had an impetuous tongue which got them into trouble. He stood with Chamberlain rather than with Churchill but he never spoke or acted in skulking fear of the Nazi peril.

A gilded stroke in 1950 crushed his parliamentary career. His father died and he succeeded to the title of Hailsham. Over his vehement protests, intermittently continued still, he was forced to trade the splendid combat of the House of Commons for the exquisite monotony of the House of Lords. He repaired his career long before he recovered his temper.

In 1957 he became chairman of the Conservative Party and he once again turned into a happy warrior. His special qualification for the Moscow mission arises from his experience as Minister of Science in the Macmillan cabinet. The mysteries of nuclear policy can hardly be an erudite puzzle to him.

Churchill lists this mischievous debate among the milestones to the war, for it gave Hitler the false idea that young Englishmen were cowards. A few years later, in the Battle of Britain, many of these same Oxford lads made the sky over England vivid with their valor and saved the world's best hopes by their courage. Quintin Hogg left his seat in rather improbable, to see in him a potential successor to Prime Minister Macmillan.

In Moscow, Mr. Harriman will have the support and encouragement of a British colleague of superb ability and unspotted integrity. Hailsham will be master of every inch of his intricate brief, and the Russians will sneak few stratagems past his scrutiny. His loyalty to Britain's partnership with the United States is one of the great themes of his life. He must rejoice, on personal grounds, at this chance to share America's fortunes in this test with Russia. On national grounds he must be even happier that Britain holds America's trust and is worthy of it.

As Our Readers See It

Rebuttal From Honolulu

After reading an interview by Pat Dufour with Mrs. F. J. Thomas in your paper, I felt it my responsibility as a former Canadian from Victoria now living in Honolulu to answer these completely false impressions that have been given by Mrs. Thomas.

She states that children "have very little moral sense . . . and their parents are quite happy to see them take life lightly." It is probably not known in Canada that over 50 per cent of the population of Hawaii is Oriental, mainly from Japan and China. What is known in Canada is the strictness of the upbringing of these Oriental children. This Oriental strictness is even more emphasized here in Hawaii where there is a closer affinity with the Orient than there is in Canada. I can honestly state that I have never met more reserved and well-behaved teenagers than I have here.

There is, of course, as anywhere else, some juvenile delinquency but this is due in large part to the military families from the mainland. Also, a great deal of trouble is caused by young people who come to the islands from the mainland for the summer holidays. In fact, the police put on a special squad to curb these rowdies. The mainlanders are the types who "bundle in a car . . . and sleep on the beaches all night." As a matter of fact, if anyone's caught on the beach after ten in the evening, there is a good chance of a vagrancy charge.

Academic standards admittedly are perhaps slightly lower than in Canada. But this is, in general, true with most U.S. schools. It is definitely not due to the "integrated" schools. Education is a well-known virtue of the Oriental society. The maximum in any class is 30-35 students which compares to 39 in British Columbia.

If Mrs. Thomas didn't want her daughter to go to an integrated school, perhaps Governor Ross Barnett would have welcomed her. Then, of course, there is Punahoa School which is 99 per cent white and of which a large majority of graduates go on to college. But then the standards of Punahoa are very high.

To show how enthusiastic Hawaiians are for education I would like to point out that at the University of Hawaii there is an enrollment of 11,700 of which about 900 are foreign students including some Canadians studying mainly Oriental history and languages. Also established here at the university is the East-West Centre for cultural and technical interchange, the American answer to Patrice Lumumba University and Friendship University of Russia. This is sponsored by the U.S. government and in consequence, has quite good standards. This has resulted in some world famous scholars teaching here, including Dr. Walter Vella, the top U.S. authority on Thailand, and Dr. Werner Levi, a world authority on international affairs.

As for the cost of living in Hawaii, it compares very favorably with Victoria — and there's much less clothing to buy.

Greek Prisoners

Many people have felt sympathy with the campaign for the release of political prisoners in Greece, which culminated in the attacks on Queen Frederica in London. No one likes to think of people being in prison solely for conscientious political views.

Some supporters of the campaign undoubtedly have not realized that it has a long history of Communist planning. It was initiated in November 1959 at a meeting of the West European Communists held in Rome. The Communists were given the task of organizing campaigns for the release of political prisoners in Portugal and Spain as well as Greece and of trying to involve as many non-Communists as possible in the work.

In the London campaign, two Communist Party members, Mrs. Diana Pynn and Mrs. Betty Ambatiel, have taken a leading part.

On May 3 of this year the Greek government stated that over 60 per cent of those convicted of "murder and armed and active participation" during the civil war have been released; and that in cases where it can be justified on grounds of health, age, or conduct, leniency will continue to be used. But surely we cannot expect the Greek government to ignore entirely the legal conviction of criminals, whose crimes include, among other things the kidnapping and abduction behind the Iron Curtain of thousands of Greek families, including many children who never were returned. This atrocity was verified by UN special commissions and the International Red Cross.

It is a familiar Communist tactic to advocate views which appear exactly the same as those held by other non-Communist groups. It seems a pity that many people of liberal and humanitarian ideas should lend their support to such campaigns sometimes to the neglect of legitimate organizations with no political motives working for the good of mankind.

... REPORTING

Ottawa—The biggest point of difference between politicians and newspapermen, I've learned over the years, is how much of the people's business the people should be told.

Ideally the people should be told all. And since it's the newsmen's job to do the telling, this is his rule of thumb. The only valid exception, it seems to me, is when publication of information would be more useful to an actual or potential military enemy than to the people.

This, of course, raises the question of who decides whether news jeopardizes national security—the newsmen whose instinct is to report, the politician whose instinct is to avoid public and partisan criticism, or the civil servants whose instinct is both to protect his political master and his own job.

My concern for a freer flow of information is not concentrated in the defence area. It covers the whole gamut of governmental and parliamentary activities—everything from Columbia power treaty negotiations to the spending of our tax dollars. And in the non-military area newsmen encounter many information blocks that in effect deny the people access to the facts of their own affairs.

A case in point is Foreign Minister Martin's press conference last week in which he refused to disclose the aspects of the Columbia treaty that the government wants changed. More than half of his replies to questions were refusals to answer on the grounds that such information might prejudice the negotiation of treaty changes.

But inasmuch as Prime Minister Pearson had told President Kennedy at Hyannisport the nature of the changes the government desires in the treaty, it is obvious that those whom Martin wants to keep in the dark are the people—perhaps the Canadian people, perhaps the American people, perhaps both. Why? Well, my guess is that he wants to avoid pressures being put on the government here and the government in Washington for or against this or that aspect of the treaty. He wants to present the people with a fait accompli.

But why should not the people be told what the government proposes to ask of the Americans? There would be public reaction—but in a democracy this should be a desirable thing, not an annoyance or embarrassment that government should try to avoid. It's not Lester Pearson's river, or Paul Martin's money.

For their own purposes the politicians make a shibboleth of the prerogatives of Parliament. There is good reason for the government to save policy announcements for Parliament. That is the traditional practice under the parliamentary system, and also mere courtesy when government is responsible to Parliament. But much information that is not policy is withheld from the inquiring reporter, and often only a question planted with an opposition MP will dig it out.

Martin especially is gaining a reputation for reticence since he refused to brief newsmen on events in the recent NATO council meeting here. Fortunately I skipped his empty and frustrating press conference, and instead got a full report at Dean Rusk's half hour briefing in the U.S. Embassy.

A disinclination to make frank disclosure was part of Finance Minister Gordon's recent troubles. In its minority position in the Commons the government is especially vulnerable to criticism, which may be a reason for governmental reticence. But it is not a reason that should stay a newsmen's typewriter.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Beauty Pageants 'Unsporting'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Unless you happen to enjoy looking at pretty girls in bathing suits, a Miss Universe news conference is rather a letdown.

A group of the participants in this year's Miss Universe contest stopped off here for a visit en route to Miami Beach, where the pageant will be staged.

They held a press conference on the shores of a hotel swimming pool, but it turned out to be more visual than oral. Either their time was monopolized by photographers or they were unable to speak English.

It was most disappointing because I had been looking forward to discussing the Common Market with Miss Belgium, obtaining Miss France's views of Gen. de Gaulle's "grand design," hearing Miss Italy's opinion of the new Pope, and so forth.

I could, of course, have interviewed Miss England, but only one thing has been happening in England recently and I was reluctant to bring that up.

I was afraid one of the chaperones might overhear us and get the wrong idea.

So there was nothing much for a reporter to do but deposit himself on a chaise lounge and watch some 20 of the world's most beautiful young women parade around in powder blue swim suits. Pity.

Beauty pageants continue to attract large crowds in this country, but actually they do not provide much of a challenge for a veteran girl-watcher.

West

When a bird-watcher has a yen to gaze upon a great racket-tailed drongo or a rufous-browed pepper shrike, he does not go to an aviary. That would be considered unsporting.

He goes into the parks or woods to seek out the birds in their natural habitats. Spotting a red-whiskered bulbul is only fun for a bird-watcher when it is accompanied by a case of poison ivy.

It is much the same with girl-watching. Organized displays of feminine pulchritude take a great deal of the pleasure out of this ancient pastime by removing the element of chance.

Spotting a pretty girl at a beauty contest is no accomplishment at all.

Some of the best girl-watching grounds in the world can be found in Washington. Among the more favorable locations is the cafeteria in the House office building during the lunch hour.

A person wouldn't suspect, judging from some of the legislation they pass, that members of Congress were capable of such discernment in the employment of clerks and stenographers.

The Capitol not only offers a stunning variety of girl life in the scores of congressional offices; on many occasions rare and interesting species can be spotted among the flocks of tourists.

Or so I'm told. I never notice such things myself.

HOME GARDEN

Planning Your Shade Trees

Home-owners who have purchased a sizeable lot with the house often express disappointment that no trees are already growing there.

They would like to have shade trees and do not aspire to flower borders and a vegetable garden.

Probably the first thing to do is to take a large sheet of stout paper (the back of a calendar is often the answer) and draw the boundaries of the lot on as large a scale as possible.

Then outline the house to scale, and mark the principal windows and doors.

During the summer months a few ideas can be culled by listing to the family's "I wish we had" or "Wouldn't it be nice if we could" as they sit around on the shady side of the house.

"It is all right to build castles in the air" as I was told when young, "but don't forget to put foundations under them."

A woodland glade sound interesting and enticing, and certainly offers possibilities for clever treatment in planting. Yet if planned in a practical manner, it need not be either expensive to accomplish or to maintain.

Patiene is needed, particularly if the budget allowance for the garden is limited to purchasing small sizes in the plants.

Of the sealed drawing, groups of trees can be marked in as soon as an overall, long range plan is devised. Details will evolve as knowledge increases and the trees grow.

The first plantings should be

Compromise Coming Between '2 Chinas'?

By VICTOR ZORZA

LONDON—A trial balloon released this week by Communist China carried the message to Chiang Kai-shek that, in view of Russian and American attitudes, the time might now be opportune for a compromise between the Chinese Nationalists and Communists.

The compromise proposal was made by the Hong Kong communist paper Ching Po, which reflects faithfully the Peking line on important issues. There is reason to believe that it would not publish a suggestion of this kind without prompting from Peking.

Ching Po reportedly recalled proposals by Li Chuan-jen, a former Chinese Nationalist leader, that President Chiang Kai-shek should abolish his defence pact with the United States, become a "vice-chairman in Peking," and retain control of his army.

This, the paper added, was a view shared by far-sighted Chinese Nationalist party members and overseas Chinese. The compromise was necessary, for in its absence the United States and the Soviet Union would "sever Taiwan from the mainland."

It is much the same with girl-watching. Organized displays of feminine pulchritude take a great deal of the pleasure out of this ancient pastime by removing the element of chance.

Labor MP 'Tabbed' Philby 8 Years Ago

LONDON (Reuters) — The Harold Macmillan, then foreign secretary and now prime minister, cleared Philby of engaging in any "third man" activities.

On July 1 this year the government confirmed that Philby was the "third man." The government said he was believed to be in a Communist country after disappearing from Lebanon.

Lipson asserted in October, 1955, that Philby, a foreign office official, warned diplomats Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess that the security men were on their track. They fled to Moscow in 1951.

But in November, 1955, Lipson, under pressure, withdrew his assertion and made a formal apology in Parliament after subsequent events.

NORAD TOUR

Canadian MPs Told 'Secrets'

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — A group of Canadian parliamentarians, led by Defence Minister Paul Hellyer, received an "extensive" briefing Wednesday on the operations of the North American Air Defence Command.

The group, mostly members of the House of Commons special defence committee, arrived from Ottawa amid controversy over how much information they would be given during their one-day tour of NORAD headquarters.

An authoritative source said, however, that most of the controversy was "misguided."

"These people will get a full and comprehensive briefing," he said before the arrival of the Canadians. "They won't be told every secret, but then neither are half the people who work here."

One committee member, New Democrat Harold Winch, had complained the group would be denied "secret" information which he felt was necessary for its probe into Canadian defence policy.

There were reports that NORAD officers might withhold some information because the Canadians had not undergone a formal security check. In Ottawa, however, Secretary of State J. W. Pickersgill said there was no question of imposing such a check on members of Parliament.

Look at it this way. If Gilbey's Gin didn't make superb drinks, would it have been sold all over the world for nearly 80 years? We hardly think so.

OTTAWA (CP) — Terry Nugeent, (PC—Edmonton—Strathcona) asked Wednesday in the Commons that reporters be permitted to accompany the Commons defence committee on future trips to report on the committee's "frustrations" and the information it was not getting. He said the plane which took the 24-member committee to North American Air Defence Command headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., Tuesday night left with many empty seats.

There was no comment from the government side. Both Defence Minister Hellyer and Associate Defence Minister Carling accompanied the committee.

Cries of Dismay From U.S. Brokers

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jitters gave way to relative calm in Wall Street today as the financial capital studied searching federal government criticism of some key practices in the New York stock exchanges.

Presidents of the two largest securities markets in the United States worked on rebuttals to a severe report filed Wednesday with Congress by investigators of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission—the regulatory government body.

Amid butters of dismay from some brokers, G. Keith Funston, president of the New York stock exchange, held his peace. So did Edwin D. Etherington, president of the American stock exchange.

They said time was required to digest the 2,100-page second installment of SEC inquiry findings, sequel to a milder report last April.

SEES NEW CURBS

The SEC committee called for new curbs on short selling, floor traders and stock specialists, tighter supervision of trading in unlisted securities in the over-the-counter market and an improved system of handling odd-lot (small volume) transactions.

One section of the report urged elimination of floor traders by Jan. 2, 1965. It said these brokers, who buy and sell for their own account, enjoy unfair advantages over others.

Canadian Exchanges Will Study Report

MONTREAL (CP) — Eric Russell, secretary of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, said Wednesday he does not feel the changes in stock exchange operations recommended by U.S. securities and Exchange Commission investigators are applicable in Canada.

The report's main recommendation was the abolition of floor trading on the exchanges for the personal account of the trader. The investigators held the personal buying and selling of stocks by members on the exchange floor had an "unstabilizing effect."

Mr. Russell said trading by stock exchange members in Montreal on their own accounts has had a stabilizing effect on the market by closing the spread of market quotations.

The degree of trading among members is not nearly as large a portion of total trading on our exchanges as in New York," he said.

He did not think the Canadian exchanges were "subject to specific weaknesses and abuses," one of the conclusions of the SEC report.

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange will make a close study of the findings of investigators of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission to see whether they have any application here, Toronto exchange president, Howard D. Graham said Wednesday.

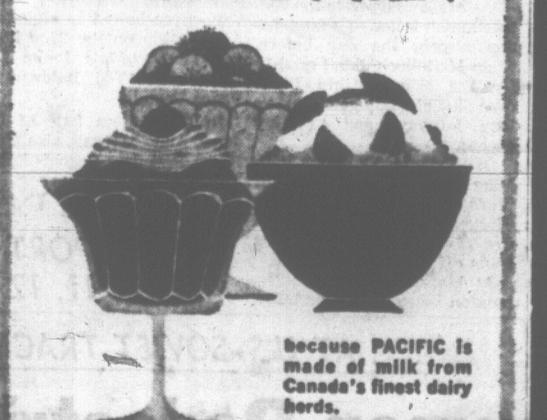

Commenting on recommendations for overhaul of trading on the New York and American stock exchanges, Mr. Graham said the investigators apparently had made a thorough study of these exchanges and concluded that trading on their own account by traders on the floor had an unstabilizing influence on the market.

"Perhaps it is because we don't have the same volume of trading of this nature," Mr. Graham added, "but we have never seen any indication that such trading as seen here has had a bad effect on the market."

"In fact, general opinion has been that it has had a stabilizing effect. However, the situation may be quite different in New York."

Interviewed by two employees of the CBC public affairs office, Ray Fabish and Warner Troyer, Mr. Gordon said the country now should look ahead to the future rather than rehash his problems in compiling the budget and getting it approved by Parliament may be quite different in New York."

INAUGURAL JUNIOR GOLF CLINIC . . .

Leonard's Tip: Invest in Band-Aid Stocks

By PETER MATTHEWS
CHILLIWACK — B.C.'s first Junior Golf Clinic, which 10 Victoria boys are attending, has turned out to be "a big hit," in the opinion of 48-year-old touring star Stan Leonard.

A total of 108 boys answered the roll-call of B.C. pros for a week's tuition and training at Dunc Sutherland's immaculate Meadowlands course, two miles east of this Fraser Valley centre.

"Man, this place is a battle-ground," Leonard exclaimed as he waited to tee off in an exhibition match Wednesday afternoon.

"And," he grinned, "if you have any money to invest, put it in Johnson and Johnson. You can't buy a band-aid in town—these kids use a box a time, just to cover their blisters."

The young golfers, who pay $75 a week for the course, are living at the Empress Hotel in Chilliwack. They have a 10:15 curfew and are "chaperoned" by older golfers like Edi Forst of Vancouver, who was medalist at the Qualicum Mid-Island tournament this year.

"Their deportment has been fine," Leonard told The Times.

"And are they keen? Yesterday, to give them a bit of a break in the routine, we suggested that some might like to go to Cultus Lake for a swim.

We asked the class of 108 to hold up hands, any who liked their idea.

"Not one kid raised his hand! They wanted to stay on the golf course."

Leonard's enthusiasm is matched by that of veteran Joe Pryke of Gorge Vale, the only Victoria pro on hand for the classes. Joe is instructing the youngsters in long iron play and says "they keep me hopping from 8 in the morning until 10 at night."

One of the Gorge boys, Noel Pumfrey, had his swing checked by Stan Leonard. Pryke says that Stan found "little to change."

"Noel's a future champion,"

JOE PRYKE
... enthusiastic

says Joe. "In about two years you'll be hearing from him."

Graham Sommer of Oak Bay is another Victoria teen-ager who is enjoying the course. He had a 75 on his first tour of Meadowlands.

Ricky Kent of Colwood amused host pro Dunc Sutherland when he called the youngster from the 16th tee to attend a special class.

"Gee, I'd like to finish the last two holes. I've got a chance for the course record," Kent said.

"What'd you need?" asked the veteran Scot.

"Just a birdie and an eagle," replied Kent.

Harold Kerr of Marine

Drive, who worked with Leonard and Len Collett to put the Clinic together, has been retained by the BCPGA to organize future exhibitions and matches designed to promote the game in this province.

"We've got the blue print," Kerr said Wednesday.

Will the clinic become an annual affair?

"How could we stop it?" Len Collett asked. "This thing is infectious."

Kerr paid tribute to the Victoria Times for sponsoring the Island Open, and the subsequent match between Island champion Bill Wakeham and Vancouver's Lyle Crawford—which raised $250 for the Junior Clinic.

As part of the training, youngsters were afforded a real treat Wednesday afternoon when they saw Leonard and Fred Wood play a light-hearted exhibition with Crawford and Bryan Copp, the prodigious young redhead better from Point Grey.

The students were suitably impressed by the smashing drives of Copp, Leonard and Crawford, and the beautiful short game of veteran Fred Wood. All except one.

"Gee," said one of the Clinicians, in disgust, "What a scumbler."

JACK ADAMS PRESIDENT OF NEWEST PRO LEAGUE

CHICAGO (AP) — The Central Professional Hockey League was organized here Wednesday and Jack Adams, former general manager of Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, was elected president.

The league was formed with co-operation of NHL teams. St. Louis, Indianapolis, Omaha, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Tulsa are charter members of the league, an expansion of the former Eastern Professional League.

St. Louis becomes a Chicago Black Hawk farm team. New York Rangers will work with St. Paul, Boston Bruins with Minneapolis, Montreal Canadiens with Omaha and Detroit with Indianapolis.

Toronto Maple Leafs' entry at Tulsa will not get into competition until the following season when a new arena, now under construction, will have been completed.

HERO-A-DAY CLUB

All Dodgers Pulling Load

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Los Angeles Dodgers are operating on the theory that a hero a day will keep the contenders away. Sandy Koufax . . . Johnny Podres . . . Maury Wills . . . Tommy Davis . . . They've all taken their turns in the spotlight as the Dodgers have increased their National League lead to 6½ games and their won-lost percentage to .620.

And when they're not tearing up the peapatch, it seems that there's always somebody else—somebody like Ron Fairly or Ron Perranoski.

Fairly, who's been with the Dodgers since 1960 but rarely gets any publicity, and Perranoski, who's been with them since 1961 and is only beginning to get some, combined Wednesday to enable the Dodgers to down Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2. The Dodgers now have won nine of their last 11 games and 14 of their last 17.

MILLER WINS

Fairly drove in two runs with a second-inning homer and a fourth-inning double and then Perranoski went to Bob Miller's rescue in a seventh-inning jam and shut out the Pirates with two hits the rest of the way. Miller received credit for his seventh win while Vern Law lost his fourth game.

The big Dodger drive has the other contenders gasping for breath—especially San Francisco Giants, whose 9-7, 11th-inning loss to the New York Mets was their eighth in 10 games.

St. Louis Cardinals defeated Cincinnati Reds, 3-1; Milwaukee Braves beat Chicago Cubs, 6-4, in 12 innings and the Philadelphia Phillies scored a 10-9, 10th-inning win over the Houston Colt in other NL games.

ALSTON EJECTED

Dodgers' manager Walt Alston experienced one of his rare ejections when he protested umpire Ed Sudol's safe call at first base on a potential double play that would have taken Perranoski out of the crucial seventh. After Alston's departure, however, Perranoski went right back to work and retired dangerous Roberto Clemente for the third out of the frame.

Two players recently recalled from the minors dealt the Giants decisive blows as Joe Christopher singled and Joe Hicks homered in the 11th for the Mets. Willie McCovey hit his 11th home run of the month—five short of the NL record for a month—and his 29th of the season while Jesse Gonder and Christopher also homered for the Mets.

In the American League, New York defeated Minnesota, 4-0; Detroit routed Baltimore, 9-1; Chicago downed Washington, 8-2; Kansas City drubbed Boston, 8-1; and Los Angeles topped Cleveland, 7-2 and 1-0.

Dour Comox Scot, 88, Whips Youngster, 67

WANCOUVER (CP) — Jim McCulloch, a dour Scot of 88 years, took 18 holes Tuesday to whip a mere youngster of 67 in the 10th flight of the B.C. Seniors' golf tournament.

Wednesday's down-to-the-last-hole match followed a mild disappointment the day before, when McCulloch didn't qualify for the championship flight over Shaughnessy golf course's long fairways and tricky greens.

Of Wednesday's match with Mike Gregg, McCulloch said:

"He's only 67. When I was

67—you know that's 21 years ago—I could have knocked the spots off him."

At his home course in Comox on Vancouver Island, McCulloch never misses his daily round of golf, and has been playing the game half his 88 years.

In the championship flight

Wednesday, defending champion Norm Wilkinson from Vancouver bowed to clubmate Art Watson on the 22nd hole, while Victoria's Peter McIntyre beat Ted Baldwin of Peace Portals.

In the bottom half of the draw, Andy Morgan, also from Peace Portals, eliminated Ron Knowlson and Powell River.

Cowboys Work Hard For Second Decision

MONTREAL (CP) — Calgary Stampeders may have whipped Montreal Alouettes 10-1, but they knew they were in a football game.

"Whew," said a perspiring Bobby Dobbs, coach of the Stampeders, after the game Wednesday night. "This was a tough game as you'll ever see, as early in the season."

Besides heavy hitting by both teams, the weather was hot and humid and it "took quite a bit out of both ball clubs," said Dobbs.

It was Calgary's second pre-season exhibition against Eastern Conference teams. Two nights earlier, in a heavy rain at Ottawa, they beat the Rough Riders 24-7.

Calgary's superior conditioning paid off in the final half when they shook loose from a weakening Montreal defense to control the ball almost at will.

Earl (Earthquake) Lunsford, a 200-pound Oklahoma fullback who missed most of last season with a broken ankle, scored the only touchdown of the game.

Canadian-born Larry Robinson did the rest of the Calgary scoring, converting Lunsford's major, and kicking a third-quarter field goal from the 10-yard line.

100,000 CROWD EXPECTED . . .

Visiting Yanks Like Common Pedestrians Now

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russian policeman in the powder-blue shirt and khaki-colored tie blew his whistle sharply at Jim Beatty, who appeared to be neatly out for the Russians are.

Beatty, who is 5'10", 180 pounds, is 20 years old and has been running in the Soviet Union since 1962. Both are hampered by leg injuries.

"It shows how they are starting to take us for granted," said Hayes Jones, the Detroit school teacher-hurdlers, who has competed in all four previous meets against the Russians. The fifth in the series is scheduled for this weekend.

"When we first came over here, all the traffic stopped everywhere we went," he said. "Now we're expected to get out of the way like everybody else."

"It makes you feel better, more relaxed. I guess they're getting used to Americans, and figure we're not so bad."

And if the Americans are becoming an old story to Moscow, the Russian capital is getting to be familiar to the American runners.

More than half the 70 members of this year's team have been in Moscow before, some several times.

"I see a lot of changes," said hammer thrower Al Hall of New York. "The clothes are much more colorful and the men's suits look American."

"The people seem happier," said Ralph Boston, the broad-jumper. "Not just to us—they were always nice to us. They just seem to smile more."

This could be the year when the U.S. team whips the Soviet Union in their fifth annual dual meet.

It could also bring the first 100,000 crowd ever to see a track-and-field meet.

"We have a very good chance to pile up our best score in his tory in the men's events and the girls will surprise everybody."

The meet is to be held Saturday and Sunday at giant Lenin Stadium.

Payton Jordan of Stanford University, coach of the U.S. team, is the authority for the first meet.

"I like to think of the meet as two separate ones between the American men's and women's teams," Jordan said. "That's the way the meet was set up. But we might win it in overall points, too."

"We have a very good chance to pile up our best score in his territory in the men's events and the girls will surprise everybody."

This is a young team, with more potential than any team we've ever had. It might explode."

The best U.S. men's score—the American males have won all four—was 128-107 at Stanford last year. The Soviet girls administered their usual shellacking to the American females, and the Soviet had a four-point edge in combined scores.

Jordan said the Soviet coaches have told him the advance sale for the meet is the largest ever.

"We could have a sellout—that's 100,000," he said.

MARTIN SEEKS TO SET DATE
ON COLUMBIA

Times Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA — External Affairs Minister Martin will meet with U.S. Ambassador Walton Butterworth on Monday to set up new Canadian-U.S. negotiations on Columbia River development.

Mr. Martin said today he expected to be able to arrange with the ambassador the actual date for starting negotiations.

The Canadian negotiating team will be headed by Mr. Martin. Make-up of the U.S. team is not yet known.

Opening talks will be held in Ottawa some time next week, Mr. Martin said.

... TAX

ing outflow of long-term U.S. capital for portfolio investment abroad shows no sign of abating. It rose to $1,200,000,000 in 1962 from $850,000,000 in 1960 and this year is running at the annual rate of more than $1,500,000,000.

A Treasury official later distributed figures showing that new Canadian securities sold in the U.S. rose to $457,000,000 in 1962 from $237,000,000 in 1961. They increased again to $590,000,000 in the first six months of 1963, representing 67 per cent of all new foreign securities purchased by Americans in that period.

REDUCE BORROWINGS

The official said the tax, which Congress must approve before it can become law, will force Canadians to reduce their "extensive" borrowings in the U.S., but because of a lack of capital in Canada, the Treasury anticipates there still will be some Canadian loans and stock floated in the U.S. even at the higher cost. The same would apply to borrowers in other industrialized countries, including those in Europe.

Kennedy anticipates the tax can be abandoned at the end of 1965 when the U.S. payments deficit and foreign capital market operations are expected to improve. Currently, the U.S. deficit in international payments is running at an annual rate of some $3,300,000,000.

Countries whose securities would be subject to the tax are: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, West Germany, Hong Kong, Italy, Japan, Liechtenstein, Luxembourg, Monaco, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Republic of South Africa, San Marino, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the United Kingdom.

Kennedy emphasized the $35-an-ounce official U.S. price for gold will remain unchanged and countries desiring to buy U.S. gold will be able to get it at that price—if they so desire.

The president announced that U.S. defense spending abroad will be gradually reduced. A cut of $300,000,000 from the 1962 annual rate of $1,90,000,000 is an annual rate of $1,900,000,000 is ex-

SUBSIDIARIES EXEMPT

The tax would not apply to American purchases of bonds and stocks currently held by other Americans nor will it be applied on direct American investments in subsidiaries or affiliated companies in Canada or elsewhere. It will not apply on bonds maturing in less than three years. Exempt also will be ordinary commercial loans made by banks.

Kennedy pictured his play as a way to "stem the flood of foreign security sales in our markets" without imposing direct capital controls "contrary to our basic precept of free markets." He also said it would avoid a sharp increase in domestic long-term interest rates that "would throw our economy into reverse."

Administration officials said key financial figures in allied governments had been acquainted in advance with the factors leading Kennedy toward his excise tax decision.

Death Rate
For Eskimo
Babies High

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP)—Eskimos in the Northwest Territories are reproducing at twice the rate of other ethnic groups in Canada but their infant mortality rate is seven times that of other Canadians, Dr. Gordon Butler, the territories' chief medical health officer, said Saturday.

He told the Northwest Territories council in summer session here, that the high birth and death rates compare with those of underdeveloped countries.

Dr. Butler also reported that the incidence of gonorrhoea among whites, Indians and Eskimos in the Mackenzie district is 13 times that in southern Canada.

Of the estimated 400 cases last year, 304 were found in this modern community 10 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

There are about 8,000 Eskimos living in the territories and comparison between them and other Canadians could be misleading because the statistics were expressed in rates per 100,000 population. But even taken with a grain of salt the figures leave no room for serenity, said Dr. Butler.

Saanich Washes Hands of Rose Street Extension

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The county grand jury indicted 27 persons Wednesday on charges they operated a $1,000,000,000-a-year bookmaking ring in southern California. Jury foreman Myron J. Carr Jr. said the ring was organized and operated by a national bookmaking syndicate based in Boston. He said it was headed by T. Todd (Sugar) Brown, 53, of suburban Long Beach.

He said the completion of the originally proposed Blanchard Street extension, with one-way traffic on Blanchard

Reeve Stanley Murphy today and Douglas, is the only solution to the problem of access to the city's opening of Rose Street only a "temporary measure" which does not require co-operation between Victoria and Saanich.

He said the completion of the originally proposed Blanchard Street extension, with one-way traffic on Blanchard

Rose is just a temporary measure, and can be undertaken by the city on its own," Mr. Murphy said.

Mr. Murphy made the statement in answer to Mayor R. B. Wilson's suggestion that discussions between Saanich and the city about the problem might follow the Rose Street opening.

At present Rose Street ends at the city boundary at Tolmie, and funnels traffic into such lower standard roads as Maple and Oak.

Meanwhile, Saanich municipal engineer Neville Life said development of roads in the whole Tolmie-Cloverdale area was being held up by the provincial department of high-Trans-Canada Highway and Blanshard.

"This has been pretty well a dead issue for quite a long time now," Mr. Life said.

"But until the question is decided one way or the other, our own program is being held up."

FRIENDS HE NEVER SEES

Tape Talkers Chatting On a World-Wide Basis

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Around the world the voices go—the voices of men and women in Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, San Francisco, Australia, New Zealand, Japan—and the countries of Europe and Asia.

They travel on narrow strips of magnetized plastic, charged with power yet ridiculously fragile.

The events will begin at 9 a.m. with pipes playing different tunes all at once in different parts of the field.

But the official opening, by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, will take place at 2 p.m.

Events on the field will reach a celtic crescendo with the march past of the massed pipe bands.

A grand finale and dance will be held at the White Eagle Hall at 9 p.m.

Canadians who favor country-wide bilingualism.

It's better not to speak two languages, says Dorothy J. Kidd, unless you speak both well.

Miss Kidd, head of the French department at Montreal's Outremont high school, is here for the Canadian Teachers' Federation's annual convention.

She said to have everyone speak French and English is an "admirable ideal" but, in all reality, impractical.

"I've spent most of my life studying French but I'm not a complete expert," she said. Miss Kidd said she'd prefer the masses didn't study French and pay "lip service" to the language.

"I hate to hear French muddled."

As for Politicians who blunder through French renditions of speeches, she said she'd rather they spoke just plain good English.

Politicians may wrangle and governments barter angry notes, but the exchange of tapes between ordinary men and women, of many races and creeds, continues regardless.

"Oh, it's no use being pretentious," says Hudson. "We can't build world peace with tape recorders, but we can at least spread a little light and understanding."

And, with a twinkle in his voice, he adds:

"One of the charms of tape friendships may be that the friends don't see too much of one another!"

By his enthusiasm for sound, Hudson has reclaimed a life that was nearly wrecked 22 years ago when an accident in a local school gymnasium robbed him of the use of his legs—perhaps forever.

He took to tape recording, he opened a craft shop in Oak Bay and trained himself as an accountant.

Later he worked for an auto firm on Douglas Street—near The Times office—but when he first hired a tape recorder he had a "hunch" this was to be his vocation.

He set up a small store at 1121 Vancouver Street, selling tapes and recorders, with a little room at the back for people who like to "hear themselves."

He learned to drive a small manually-operated car, with hand clutch, and uses it to travel around Victoria and up and down the Island recording interesting sounds.

He drives to and from work every day. It's an education to watch him race up to the car in his wheelchair and, with one dynamic bound, land himself in the driver's seat.

And, if you're tactful, you won't assist him.

Hudson is confined to a wheelchair, but his mind reaches out over the world and brings a response.

From far-off places come recorded messages, many of them backgrounded with music and characteristic local sounds—the laughter of children in Czechoslovakia, a Swedish music box that tinkles like starlight on snow . . . the quick, vivacious voice of a French enthusiast . . . the broad accent of a husky Australian sheep farmer.

"Here," says Hudson, "is a man living hundreds of miles from any town, who has never been outside Australia, yet shares his love of music with men and women on three continents."

"I don't even know what he looks like, but his voice is gruff and friendly and I picture him on his lonely sheep farm, sitting beside his recorder with a phonograph and radio at his elbow."

"He tapes many of the broadcasts he hears, some by short wave, and shares them with friends thousands of miles away."

Nearly two years ago, Hudson founded the Victoria Recording Club. It has grown to a membership of around 70 and is now affiliated with World Tape Pals—a universal fellowship with headquarters in Dallas, Texas.

Negro 'Attacker' Shot by Deputies

Negroes Call Truce

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (CP-AP) Negro leaders tentatively called off demonstrations for at least another week today following the announcement that Governor J. Millard Tawes would ask a committee of distinguished lawyers to help bring about racial peace to Cambridge, a community of 12,000.

Tensions eased after an announcement early today that Governor Tawes was asking the racial relations committee of the State Bar Association to mediate a solution to the eastern shore town's racial problems.

A donnybrook broke out between six white men, state police and a press photographer after a minor auto accident.

Fists flew and cameras were being used as clubs before the fight was broken up by police and the six white men taken into protective custody. No charges were placed.

Negroes have held demonstrations on several occasions despite a ban on protests by the national guard which holds the town under partial military rule.

Goodwin said the little girl was not injured.

KENNEDY APPROVES PEACEFUL MARCHES

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has given his blessings to the late-August civil rights demonstration planned for the U.S. capital.

At a press conference Wednesday he applauded peaceful racial protests while decrying those which can lead to violence and bloodshed.

As for the Washington demonstration, scheduled for Aug. 28, Kennedy said it shapes up as "a peaceful assembly calling for a redress of grievances" and undertaken through co-operation with the police.

In promising to be in the capital at the time, Kennedy added what amounted to a challenge to Congress by adding, "I am sure members of Congress will be here."

There has been some talk that the legislators might take a long Labor Day holiday—starting in late August.

Arthur Mayse

It isn't often that I find myself in critics' row for the drama of dawn, but late on in the night something twanged our window—bam—perhaps, or misdirected owl—with thoughts of coffee.

Our house is long and low, and faces east above Haro Strait. I opened the curtains and all was still, cool and dim. But not dark. The night was over. This was the hiatus between night and morning, a grey time with the day birds still asleep. By the time I came back with coffee, the grey had acquired a quality of luminosity. Color as such was still subdued; it was a matter of depth and tone: pearl at the zenith shading to dulled silver, then the black intervening land mass of San Juan Island, and under it the steely strait.

The luminous light deepens, seeming to pour up from the sea and down from a clear sky. This is the interval when everything stands out sharp-edged. The three tatter-limbed balsams to the left of our property line look like picture trees from a Japanese scroll. On the right, the big fir with the shattered top looms stark above an unformed mass of what by full daylight will be maple and arbutus crowns.

From the extreme southeast, away down past humped Mount Baker in the direction of castellated Rainier, a red stain is now spreading. The time is 4:30.

So much for the first act. It has built slowly, scene by scene. The orchestra that paced it, no more than a few isolated bird-calls at first, has become an exuberant chorus.

The second act in the miracle of day returning is my favorite. It combines in exquisite proportion color, light and sound.

The red flush spreads, an infusion that moves up and out from behind the Cascade summits to tint a shroud of herring-minnow clouds an impossible pink.

The water has changed from steel to argent, bright in these moments as if someone had been busy out there with a polishing cloth. There's the feel of change and stir: finishing our coffee and the inevitable cigarette, we wonder if we shouldn't get up and trundle our trailer-boat to Telegraph Cove or Smugglers.

But we speculate the notion away, and fall to watching man's first entry on the pre-sunrise scene. A small towboat, very black against all that silver, inches in from the right. It has a long line out; the clouds are properly afame before its scow creeps into view.

With its coming, the nature of the play changes. A fishcrow sets up a scofflaw jeering, and on the orchard lawn next door, a cock pheasant answers with three hearty brays of his klanxons.

The final act opens rather flatly. The cherubic pink has faded from the clouds, and the silver of the strait has dulled.

Also, the bird-song is much less concerted than it was half an hour ago. By five o'clock it has settled to the occasional twitter and chirp which will continue until early dusk.

Except for one not over-spectacular development in the northeast, the play would seem to be over.

But the climax is still to come, and that concentration of light over the skinny end of San Juan heralds it. If you stare hard, you can see the light-rays beginning to fan and spear upward as if fed from a holocaust below.

Suddenly, startlingly, a pinpoint of crimson flame breaks through. The burning spot becomes a crescent which humps and swells, its red tinctured with orange. The pheasant repeats his harsh three-note salute. Second by second, the sun rolls over the island ridge; a half-round, then a disc, that clears the barrier to hang improbably huge an inch above the horizon.

The rays shoot level. The orange becomes gold, and a burnished path moves west across the water-plain. All in a moment, the sun is risen, too bright to be gazed upon longer.

At one surge, color returns to our world. Leaves glisten. Each blade of grass is tipped with a diamond of dew. The flowers glow brighter than they will later on.

It is now 5:45, the sun ten minutes risen and the drama of day reborn completed. Its epilogue is a milk truck clattering into a driveway. We'll pay for our watching with a drowsy afternoon, but believe me, the play was worth it!

Artful Ned's Notion Breeds Shaggy Sprite

Sprite, a two-day-old mule, is living proof that a donkey doesn't need a high-class name to move in polite society.

Owned by A. J. Phillips, proprietor of the Gobblers' Gulch turkey farm off Humpback Road, Sprite is the offspring of a mare named Miranda, whose name is taken from Shakespeare's play The Tempest.

Sprite's name has a connection with another character in the play: — Ariel, the spirit who talks to the shipwrecked mariners.

But Sprite was sired by a donkey with the ordinary name of Neddy.

Neddy, bought as a pet, was "never really accepted by the mares" on the Phillips farm, says Mrs. Phillips.

But evidently the diminutive donkey — much smaller than Miranda — acquired some personality fast, because Sprite was not the result of an induced breeding.

"It was just one of those things," says Mrs. Phillips.

Birth of the mule is supposed to be a "first" for this part

Toll Theft Report Incomplete

The attorney-general's department has asked the RCMP for additional information on its investigation into alleged thefts from the Toll Authority ferry system.

An RCMP report was turned over to the department after the investigation was completed Wednesday, said Inspector George McKay.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said his officials had asked for more information today.

He said he had received "no reliable estimate" of the amount of money missing.

So far, he added, he has not been advised of any recommendation for criminal action, but it could come as a result of further study by department officials.

Mr. Bonner said he expects the extra information will be available by sometime early next week.

In the meantime he was unable, he said, to disclose any details of the report.

The investigation was sparked by charges from Jack Washer, fired by the Toll Authority as manager of its Nanaimo terminal.

Mr. Washer said one of his toll collectors had been stealing on the job.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel; a recent film produced by the provincial parks branch will be shown.

Greater Victoria School trustee John Porteous has been appointed to represent the school board on the advisory board of the University of Victoria Foundation.

His appointment, made at the request of acting president Harry Hickman, is for a four-year term.

Municipal Affairs Minister Wes Black today was mystified about a federal-provincial conference planned next week to discuss Ottawa's new municipal loan plan.

Provincial premiers or their representatives have been invited to talks starting July 26.

"As far as I know no such invitation has reached here," said Mr. Black.

He said he had no plans to attend.

He suggested that Premier Bennett might have been asked, but the premier is away from his office today.

DEAR ABBY...

Rough Situation!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Aren't there men in this world who shave twice a day? My husband shaves at 7 a.m. and by 6 p.m. he needs another shave. If we are going out in the evening I have to beg him to shave again. It's always a battle. He says he'd rather stay home. In all our nine years of marriage, this is the only thing we've ever fought about. He says if I loved him I wouldn't nag him about shaving. I do love him, but I don't want to be seen with a man who looks like he's on his way to hold up a bank! Can you suggest something?

MARCIE

DEAR MARCIE: Many men shave twice a day and don't mind it a bit. If your man is one of those unfortunate fellows with a heavy beard and a tender face, lay off. If he's just lazy, promise him anything, but give him persuasion.

DEAR ABBY: Did you ever see a grown man cry? Well, I just did and it's enough to break your heart. I'm stationed in Germany and one of my buddies here just got a "Dear John" from his girl back home. They'd been engaged two years. He was nuts about her and talked about her day and night. He used to "dance" with her picture and sleep with it under his pillow. He never looked at any other girl and he had plenty of chances. His girl just wrote and said she was giving his engagement ring to his mother because she was marrying another guy. Please, Abby, tell girls back home not to write guys news like that, but to wait until they get home to break the news. My buddy says he doesn't want to live any more.

A BUDDY'S BUDDY

DEAR BUDDY: I've said it many times, but I'll say it again. When a girl promises to "wait" for her man who's gone in the service, she should keep that promise. Frequently that's the only thing that keeps a guy going.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of people who invite you to their home for a visit and have the TV going full blast all the time you are there? By the time the evening is over your throat is sore from trying to outshout the television.

SORE THROAT

DEAR SORE: Guests who are asked to compete with the television all evening should decline the second invitation.

Confidential to Eddie and Paul: Get the lettuce together, boys, and you'll have no trouble finding the tomatoes.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

TODAY'S RECIPE

RED RASPBERRY JAM

(Uncooked Fruit)

Three cups prepared fruit (about 1½ quarts ripe red raspberries), 5½ cups (2 lbs. 5 oz.) sugar, ¾-cup water, 1 box powdered fruit pectin.

First, prepare the fruit. Thoroughly crush about 1½ quarts fully ripe red raspberries. (If desired, sieve half of pulp to remove some of seeds.) Measure 3 cups into a large pan or bowl.

Then make the jam. Measure sugar, add to fruit, mix well and let stand. Mix water and powdered fruit pectin in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir into fruit mixture. Continue stirring about 2 minutes. (There will be a few remaining sugar crystals.) Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Then store in freezer. If jam is to be used within 2 or 3 weeks, it may be stored in refrigerator. Yield about 8 medium (8 oz.) glasses (4½ lbs. jam).

Pleats Turned Wrong Way? Check Arrows on Pattern

"Dear Eunice, Every time I use a pattern with unpressed pleats instead of darts, they are turned in just the opposite way that they seem to be in the picture on the pattern. Are the pictures always right?" Mrs. L.E.R.

Dear Mrs. L.E.R.:

Usually the pictures on the pattern are accurate and I am almost sure you are making a rather common mistake. When you mark unpressed pleats on your fabric, you must TAILOR-TACK these instead of marking with chalk.

They must be made from the right side of your garment to come out correctly. Hold the right side of your pattern in front of you and check the direction they will go according to the arrows on the pattern. In this way you can check yourself and avoid any mistakes.

Miss Margaret Earle, 18, a visitor in the city from the Okanagan, shakes hands with the Lieutenant-Governor while her aunt, Mrs. J. Wilson Paton, is greeted by Mrs. Pearkes. Two lines of guests, from the main west gate and the middle driveway, converged in front of the main entrance to Government House to pass through the receiving line. The hosts spoke to 2,750 guests in two hours. Mrs. Pearkes wore a green and cream floral dress, beige straw hat with toning rose, and white accessories.

An attractive twosome as they strolled about Government House grounds Wednesday afternoon was Mrs. C. F. Kenny, left, and her sister, Mrs. C. L. Tolson, both of Victoria.

Scene in Retrospect

Well-known flower painter, Miss Emily Sartain, was first to shake hands with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes at the garden party. She was followed by the Misses Ethel and Maude Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Frame and Miss Ellie Walker.

Mrs. R. B. Wilson, wife of Victoria's mayor, was charming in a two-piece ensemble of delicate beige and white cotton that had a loose-fitting over-blouse caught with a sash. The beige straw formed her hat which featured a wide turned-up brim.

Mrs. Waldo Skillings wore a golden yellow suit with large brimmed hat and black accessories; Mrs. Cyril Wightman was in blue and pink.

Mrs. T. H. Johns in a blue and white floral dress with small black hat, had with her Mrs. E. Watters and Miss Sally Watters from Peterborough, Ont. Miss Watters was in white with narrow banding of red and blue at neckline and edge of sleeves; Mrs. Watters was in a pink and beige ensemble.

Mrs. J. Wenger was at the party wearing blue suit with small pink hat and grey Canadian squirrel stole. With her was Mrs. J. Sickinger in white and grey.

Cmdr. and Mrs. A. J. Tullis attended. Mrs. Tullis has only recently returned from a three months trip to Europe where she visited in Italy and Switzerland and many other places of interest.

Mrs. R. V. Campbell and her sister Mrs. R. F. Macrae were busy greeting friends.

A foursome included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gillespie and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Whittington. Mrs. Gillespie wore a turquoise and white ensemble and Mrs. Whittington had brown and white floral dress and brown and black accessories.

Two young air hostesses on holiday here attended the party. They were Miss Trudy Howe of Victoria and Miss Deirdre Butcher, Montreal. One fair-haired and one a brown one, they chose frosted pink summer dresses for the occasion. With them was Mrs. R. Howe and Mrs. L. J. Moore.

Mrs. G. S. Brown's turquoise blue dress was embroidered in white and gold design with it she wore a small white hat and white shell lei.

Mrs. A. E. Walters was in a cream beige shantung suit with matching high-crowned hat wreathed in white feather flowers.

Smile that has endeared the Lieutenant-Governor to all British Columbians was very evident throughout the garden party at Government House Wednesday afternoon. Here he receives Mrs. S. E. Morres, who was accompanied by her husband, Brig. Morres (Rtd.) and her aunt, Mrs. E. Boydell.

Ease Added to Protocol Makes a Good Party

By ELIZABETH FORBES and PAT DUFOUR

The friendly ease that has become a symbol of all gatherings at Government House in the past three and a half years, again set the tone at the annual garden party Wednesday afternoon.

Tourists on the top of a double-decker bus that passed Government House during the garden party on Wednesday, obviously enjoyed the unexpected stop made by their driver at a vantage point where they could look in at the colorful scene.

The lieutenant-governor smiled at every person who went through the line.

Mrs. Pearkes, in her quiet, relaxed way, seemed to be able to relate some event or some person to the guest she was receiving and to send all on their way marveling at her amazing memory.

Cmdr. Gar Dixon, secretary to the lieutenant-governor, and a full corps of aides-de-camp, representing the four services, were ever present to see that receiving lines moved steadily forward and that names were given to the lieutenant-governor and Mrs. Pearkes, clearly and carefully.

The bands of HMCS Naden and the Royal Canadian Engineers played throughout the afternoon. Gay marqueses shaded gallons of tea and coffee and thousands of sandwiches and cake.

Flower beds were brilliant but they were no match for the gowns and hats of feminine guests.

Splashes of color were also added by red blazers and white skirts of Solarium Junior League members, who assisted in serving refreshments.

There was laughter and good talk as friend met friend. One of many such an incident came when Col. the Hon. Clarence Wallace, a former lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, spotted Miss Kathleen Agnew. He stepped out of the receiving line to greet her with a warm "Hello, Kathleen."

Mrs. Wallace who travelled from Vancouver with her husband for the party looked poised and handsome in a white lace suit complemented with hat of green net.

Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wearing a sage green chiffon dress, white top coat and white flowered hat, smiled happily as she walked arm in arm with her daughter, Mrs. C. Tozer, who is here from Kelowna, taking psychology and counselling at summer school.

Mrs. Pearkes, in her quiet, relaxed way, seemed to be able to relate some event or some person to the guest she was receiving and to send all on their way marveling at her amazing memory.

Hats reached high and wide. Roses of every size and color bloomed on many a head. And, for variety, there were violets and a tall black beret topped with a wide-eyed daisy.

One young guest gave a party to her white straw hat by adding a royal orange overskirt to its brim.

This was one occasion when male guests were not to be outdone in the way of dress.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor led the sartorial parade wearing striped grey trousers, morning coat, grey topper and a red rosebud boutonniere.

There were black toppers, too, as well as grey. And business suits and blazers, as well as black pants and white flannel jacket.

Naval officers discarded "blues" in favor of crisp white "tropical" uniforms.

During the ceremony the bride's uncle, Norman Thomas, Lethbridge, Alta., sang "Song of Ruth."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of brocaded satin styled with lily-point sleeves, scoop neckline and floor-length skirt. A Dior rose held her scalloped-edged waist-length veil. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and Talisman roses.

Simply styled dresses with full skirt were worn by maid of honor Miss Sandra Morris, bridesmaid Miss. Donna Profit and junior bridesmaid Miss Wendy Profit.

Mr. J. Van Wees, formerly of Holland and now of Victoria, escorted Mrs. C. J. Langer, Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Holly Visel, Baldwin Island, Calif., to the garden party. Also in the party was Johannes Halee, who is taking teacher-training at summer school here. Both Mrs. Langer and Mrs. Visel were teachers at summer school in Victoria last year, and enjoyed the city so much they "simply had to come back for a visit this year." The young men hope to make the city their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Greaves of Victoria, enjoy tea, cakes and ice cream, as they rest momentarily at a table—the chairs had been whisked away by a large group nearby.

Scoates-Profit Vows in Kimberley Church

Kimberley United Church

was setting last Saturday evening for the marriage of

Marilyn June Profit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Profit of Kimberley, and Eric David

Scoates, son of Mr. and Mrs.

F. Eric Scoates of Victoria.

Rev. R. G. Smith officiated.

Hats reached high and wide. Roses of every size and color bloomed on many a head. And, for variety, there were violets and a tall black beret topped with a wide-eyed daisy.

One young guest gave a party to her white straw hat by adding a royal orange overskirt to its brim.

This was one occasion when male guests were not to be outdone in the way of dress.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor led the sartorial parade wearing striped grey trousers, morning coat, grey topper and a red rosebud boutonniere.

There were black toppers, too, as well as grey. And business suits and blazers, as well as black pants and white flannel jacket.

Naval officers discarded "blues" in favor of crisp white "tropical" uniforms.

During the ceremony the bride's uncle, Norman Thomas, Lethbridge, Alta., sang "Song of Ruth."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of brocaded satin styled with lily-point sleeves, scoop neckline and floor-length skirt. A Dior rose held her scalloped-edged waist-length veil. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and Talisman roses.

Simply styled dresses with full skirt were worn by maid of honor Miss Sandra Morris, bridesmaid Miss. Donna Profit and junior bridesmaid Miss Wendy Profit.

The latter and Miss Morris were gowned in mint green crystalline with headpieces in tone. Miss Donna Profit wore peach chiffon over floral print with headpiece in tone.

All carried bouquets of Talisman roses and lily of the valley.

Best man was Douglas George Randall, of Vancouver. Ushers were Peter Scoates and William Selwood, both of Victoria.

At a reception in the Elksland Avenue.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

NEW YORK—Not only is Anthony Quinn's wife, Katherine DeMille, standing loyally by him in the paternity embarrassment—she's going to Italy to spend the summer with him just as had been planned, just as though nothing had happened. And she'll take along their daughter Valerie. Mrs. Quinn would have rushed to him immediately after the story broke, but friends here warned her that she would give the Italian paparazzi photographers one of their wildest Roman holidays.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

His First Puff Was Showoff

By JACK HUTTON

Last week I walked into a corner general store filled with teen-agers, hoping to buy a magazine or newspaper. I had to walk right out again.

Why? Because you could cut the smoke in the air with a knife, that's why.

What is it that lures young people into the tobacco habit despite all the warnings of doctors and medical experts? Everyone has a different answer to this question.

No Halo

Let me say right now that I'm not talking with any halo over my head. I've never been a fanatic cigarette smoker, but I've puffed away on a pipe ever since college days.

How did I start? The medical evidence against tobacco wasn't as well-publicized—or as complete—when I started. But I was warned. My teachers warned me. My parents warned me.

My first experimental puff was taken at the age of 11 or 12, tasting the smoke from a dried-out bullrush reed in the privacy of a friend's basement. We found it daring and then forgot it.

The next encounter—but this time with real tobacco—was during high school. I think I was either 16 or 17, and a friend and I thought it humorous to try out some cigars.

Did we enjoy them? I don't think so. We had read somewhere that Winston Churchill only inhaled one out of every eight puffs of his cigar, so figured that we wouldn't corrupt us, should adults be looking at it?"

"I remember that the last time you mentioned this, you found a 19-year-old who could see any movie he wanted to, but couldn't take his 17-year-old girlfriend to some of them. What nonsense.

Forbidden World

"If adults wonder why we are so impressed at times by the sexy movie advertisements, it's because it's a forbidden world. We imagine all sorts of things on the screen.

"All the publicity surrounding 'Cleopatra' is a darn good example. Because we read the newspapers and magazines, we have seen all the lurid build-ups. But suddenly we are told that this is for adults."

A quick check by telephone disclosed that our correspondent was partially but not entirely correct. The movie is NOT classified as "Adult Entertainment," but theaters still drawn upon teen-agers seeing it alone.

A theater spokesman said: "The label of 'Adult Entertainment' isn't on Cleopatra, but it is RECOMMENDED for adult viewing. We'll let a younger teen-ager in, but usually only with an adult."

What do the rest of you think about keeping teen-agers out of some movies?

In chemistry, the word colloid means a glue-like substance. In geometry, a spheroid is an object somewhat like a sphere. A word-part which modifies the meaning of a main word is called a suffix—and old is suffix coined from a Greek word meaning like or resembling. A planetoid, then, is somewhat like a planet.

It is, in fact, exactly like a planet except in one feature. It is smaller, far smaller, than any of the nine planets of our solar system. But what our planetoids lack in size, they make up for in numbers. There are many thousands of these small bodies in our solar family. They may also be called asteroids, meaning star-like, though planetoids are dead lumps of matter which shine only by the reflected glory of a planet.

We can investigate the meaning of the word planetoid by dividing it into two parts.

The word planet comes to us from a Latin word that came from a Greek word which meant wanderer. This is because the planets of our solar system seem to wander against the background of fixed stars.

If you have guessed that a planetoid is related to a planet, you are correct.

Word Tracing

Word tracing is a great game and very helpful when you want to know the meaning of a new word. The only equipment you need is a good dictionary—one that gives the origins from which our English words are coined. You also need the instincts of a detective, for the tracing of one word may lead you to investigate the backgrounds of many words.

We can investigate the meaning of the word planetoid by dividing it into two parts. The word planet comes to us from a Latin word that came from a Greek word which meant wanderer. This is because the planets of our solar system seem to wander against the background of fixed stars.

Most of the planetoids travel between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter. Some of them come closer and some swing out farther from the sun, and at times a planetoid may come close to the earth. The largest of these small wanderers is less than 500 miles wide, and many of them are thought to be no bigger than pebbles.

Some astronomers suggest that the planetoids are parts of an unborn planet. Some suggest that they are parts of a planet which broke apart. Certain meteorites may be fallen planetoids, and these ground space travelers may hold the secret of how this belt of small wanderers was formed.

Can radio go through space?

The radio telescope is one of the newest instruments for studying the distant heavens. An ordinary telescope catches beams of light, and the radio telescope catches radio waves from the stars. Both the light and the radio can travel across billions and billions of miles of empty space, for both are forms of electromagnetic energy.

Ordinary sound cannot travel through empty space, and above the earth's atmosphere our ears could hear nothing.

But the nothingness of space is filled with radio waves from across the galaxy, though we need a radio receiving set to change these radio waves into sounds that our ears can hear.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book globe to Allyson Jagow, age 14, of Galesburg, Ill., for her question:

Acrobat Killed Before Audience

Times News Services
SALEM, Ore. — A 33-year-old circus acrobat fell 25 feet to her death during a performance of the Rudy Brothers Shrine Circus here Wednesday.

before a crowd of some 3,500 persons. The audience which saw Mrs. Arthur Duchek fall was not aware the fall was fatal. She toppled from a high wire during an act billed as the "Cosmos." The show went on while Mrs. Duchek was carried behind the scenes. A doctor said she suffered a broken neck.

She was one of three persons killed in the act. She and her nephew rode at opposite ends of a revolving ladder, suspended horizontally from a motorcycle on the taut wire.

Other members of the Rudy Brothers Shrine Circus said she ran into a wire that had inadvertently been left up from a preceding act.

Although the wire knocked her off, her 33-year-old husband Arthur who was riding the motorcycle, and her 18-year-old nephew, Ronald Weinrich, did not fall.

The motorcycle was traveling up an inclined wire towards the rafters of the armory at the Oregon State Fairgrounds.

The show went on, but people began drifting out of the audience. About half remained to see the end of the circus.

Mrs. Duchek performed in the same act when the circus was in Victoria June 11 and 12.

PORTUGUESE FIGHT REBELS WITH TANKS

CONAKRY, Guinea (UPI) — Rebel guerrillas who control at least 35 per cent of neighboring Portuguese Guinea said today they hoped to take over the entire colony by the end of the year.

It was the first disclosure of rebel activity in the colony, although Portugal has been fighting rebels in Angola for years.

A rebel communiqué reaching Conakry from the "African party of independence for Guinea and the Cape Verde Islands" reported heavier and more frequent fighting with Portuguese soldiers and said the Portuguese have brought in tanks to cover their infantry units.

A rebel spokesman in Conakry said the guerrillas would capture the capital of Bissau by the end of the year if they received the aid promised by African heads of state at the Addis Ababa conference earlier this year.

U.S. Produces Millionaires At Fast Clip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. is producing millionaires at the fastest clip since the get-rich-quick era of the late 1920s.

The internal revenue service has reported that 398 persons filed returns showing $1 million or more income in 1961.

This was the largest number since 1929 when the stock market was at the peak of its stratospheric binge, and the total of $1 million taxpayers hit a record 513.

Ninety-two new faces added to this select group in 1961, the biggest increase since 1928 when the number spurted by 221.

The IRS statistics show only those who reported earning $1 million or more during the 1961 tax year. Authorities on the distribution of U.S. wealth estimate there are a lot more Americans who are worth $1 million today.

Church Denies Blocking School Bill

MONTREAL (CP) — Paul-Emile Cardinal Léger, Roman Catholic archbishop of Montreal, said Wednesday he "never expressed reluctance with regard to the creation of a ministry of education".

He was commenting in a statement on newspaper reports in Quebec City that said the provincial government postponed action on a bill to set up a provincial education department at cabinet level after Cardinal Léger asked Premier Lesage to make several changes in the bill.

The statement said that on his return from Rome, after the election of a new Pope last month, Cardinal Léger was advised that steps were being taken to request the government to allow time for interested groups to prepare observations on the bill.

REPLIED TO QUESTION

"Questioned on this matter," the statement said, "and desirous of owing respect for democratic institutions, he (the cardinal) merely replied:

"Since this is a project of law, let the government take the responsibility of its own decisions after having studied the amendments which may be proposed to it."

The statement did not say who had asked for the cardinal's view.

The newspaper reports in Quebec City quoted unnamed sources as saying the cardinal had telephoned the premier July 8, the day before a cabinet meeting decided to withdraw the bill at the session that ended last week, and to reintroduce it next session.

Quebec Wins Fight For Processing Plant

QUEBEC (CP) — The province of Quebec has won out over Newfoundland in a fight to provide the site for a $50,000,000 iron ore pelletizing plant.

Premier Lesage told a cheering Quebec legislature last week construction has started on the pelletizing plant at Pointe Noire, Que. The plant, located on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River 325 miles northeast of Quebec City, will process ore mined in Newfoundland's Labrador.

The Quebec premier also announced the provincially-owned Hydro-Quebec will buy all that Newfoundland doesn't need from the planned 6,000,000 horsepower potential Hamilton Falls project in Labrador.

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland had said last spring the pelletizing plant would be built at the ore beds in Labrador or not at all.

He said in a prepared statement the company building the plant, Wabush Iron Company, had made a "firm, unalterable and final decision" to build at the Quebec site or not in Canada at all.

The company announced its decision to build at Pointe Noire last fall.

Rather than take the responsibility for driving the plant outside Canada, Mr. Smallwood said he came to a "very satisfactory compromise agreement" with the company.

The agreement passed back without charge to Newfoundland 600,000 shares and control of the Newfoundland and Labrador Corporation Limited which had previously been sold to Wabush by the government.

The corporation controls mineral and timber rights over nearly 25,000 square miles of territory in Labrador and in Newfoundland itself.

Mr. Smallwood said control of these concessions would eventually bring Newfoundland $1,000,000 a year in iron ore royalties.

"We lost the pellet plant and employment for over 200 men, but we gain well over $1,000,000 a year for the treasury. . . . I am quite sure that Newfoundland gets the best of the bargain."

The legislature, which started

Jan. 15, prorogued last week after formation of a committee to determine French-Canada's objectives in a revision of the Canadian constitution.

"FOREST"
CEDAR SIDING

A new cedar specialty for Beauty
Long Life;
Economy

What is
"FOREST"
Siding?

A new and attractive type of siding that comes from specially selected cedar logs sawn to bring out all the distinctive character of knots, burls and grain.

How Does
"FOREST" compare with other siding?

It has more thickness, greater wood volume to add structural strength to any building. Its snug fit makes good insulation and its low cost makes it ideal for modest budget home builders or remodelers.

How to finish
"FOREST"

"Forest" has a distinctive horizontal shadow line that will enhance the beauty of your home.

If you wish to preserve the natural rustic effect of "Forest" apply a coat of oil filler first, then varnish or shellac. "Forest" siding also takes paint beautifully if you wish a colored finish.

ISLAND ROUNDUP

Fairest Sought For Fair Crown

DUNCAN — A fair response has been received from local service clubs, organizations and stores who have been invited to sponsor entries in a beauty contest, being organized by the local junior chamber of commerce.

Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 21, and unmarried. Judging will take place August 31, in the Cowichan Senior Secondary School auditorium. The queen and her two princesses will reign during the annual Cowichan Exhibition in September.

NANAIMO — Completion of the new Salvation Army hostel is expected by September.

Work on the old red brick building on Bastion Street, formerly the telephone building, is progressing well.

Remodelling will include sleeping quarters for 25 men, a recreation room, light lunch facilities and a thrift shop.

NANAIMO — City garbage collector Royce Vickery was injured Tuesday afternoon when he was hit by a runaway car. A car slammed into him from behind while he was loading garbage into the rear of a city truck.

Vickery was reported in satisfactory condition in Nanaimo Hospital.

The car, owned by Lucien August Baril, coasted down the back lane of Milton Street. It is believed the brakes slipped.

ERRINGTON — A Qualicum Beach rider, Henry Mant, won the aggregate ribbon and top prize at the Western Play-day staged recently by the Triangle Riding Club. Mant's mount was Little Joe.

Runner-up was John Stroble of Errington, on Smokey.

NANAIMO — Mrs. Polly Johnson, Nanaimo's oldest known resident, has died at the age of 102.

Mrs. Johnson was a charter member of the Pythian Sisters, Silver Leaf Temple No. 1, and an active worker for the Red Cross.

Born in Yorkshire, England, she had lived in Nanaimo 72 years.

COLWOOD — A charge of possession against Adrian Roy, Glen Lake Road, was dismissed Tuesday by Magistrate William Ostler because "no one (is) sufficiently interested to have any evidence available."

Roy's trial began last week but was adjourned to hear two more witnesses, one of them an RCMP officer.

When the trial resumed Tuesday Crown Prosecutor Ken Murphy said neither witness had appeared. He asked that the charge be dismissed.

The charge involved two car tires.

UCLUELET — Three Maggie Lake miners were convicted in magistrate's court here of being in possession of stolen goods.

John Bodenckuk, Thomas Bodenckuk and Harold Linklater were each fined $100 by Magistrate J. F. Webb.

NANAIMO — Construction of a new 110-foot ferry for the Nanaimo-Gabriola service will begin immediately.

B.C. highways department announced Wednesday that the contract totalling $179,877 has been awarded to McKenzie Barge and Derrick Ltd. of Vancouver.

ALBERNI — Funeral rites for one of Alberni's best-known pioneers will be held in the Legion Hall Friday at 2 p.m.

William James (Jim) Hill died in West Coast General Hospital Wednesday. He was born in Erin, Ont., in 1885, and came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill, when he was a young boy.

NANAIMO — Mrs. G. W. Brown, JP, fined two men $10 and costs each for being intoxicated in a public place when she presided over the magistrate's court here Wednesday.

Mrs. Brown was also Aug. 15 for the trial of Clifford White and David Bob, charged with shooting deer out of season.

The two Nanaimo Indians have indicated they will cite the Indian treaty as a defence.

NANAIMO — Susan and Silver are learning together—and together they make up what must be the youngest pony training combination anywhere.

Susan is four-year-old Susan Clark, and her Shetland pony, Silver, is three.

THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS command an entire issue of Holiday Magazine!

The great domain of the Rockies is the astonishment of men the world over. Those who live in the presence of its spectacular beauties say that the Rocky Mountain man, more than any other, somehow stays on top of life.

In a sweeping tribute to Rocky Mountain significance, Holiday Magazine in August explores some of the reasons why. From Pikes Peak to the wild waters of St. Mary Lake in Montana, from Utah's Great Salt Lake to the golden plains of Santa Fe, from Aspen to Boulder, Cheyenne, Laramie, Butte and north through Canada, Holiday's camera climbs to the mountain thrusts, tiptoes in on the wildlife sanctuaries, roams the bronze deserts. A splendor of photography by John Lewis Stage illuminates the Rockies and one of their greatest living secrets: some 10 million years old, they have the effect of making the man who happens upon them feel suddenly young.

Holiday's narration of the history of the Rockies is an exuberant reading experience. A. B. Guthrie, Jr., writes of the Rockies and their big sky. Gene Caesar describes the splendor of Yellowstone Country. Peter Feibleman writes on the ancestral history of the Pueblos to the South, and the green-forested grandeur of the Sangre de Cristos is a fascinating feature by Jack Schaefer. Great articles and great photography make the giant come alive, from the peaks and plains to the 6 million acres of primeval wilderness and the extraordinary geological sculptures—a monumental pause in time—that are the glory of the eight Rocky Mountain states and two Canadian provinces.

August Holiday is big reading. Pick up a copy today!

Same Drivers Hauling Pulp For New Firm

DUNCAN—Local 1-80, IWA president, Weldon Jubenville, and IWA financial secretary Ed Linder, returned from Vancouver, Tuesday, after signing a one-year contract with the Arrow Steel Erectors on behalf of Hearsay Transport Limited, of Duncan.

Drivers of the company, who will haul chips from the Youou sawmill to the Crofton pulp mill until the end of the month, will continue the job in August under the Arrow firm contract.

A five-year chip hauling contract was awarded to the new firm, a subsidiary of Arrow Transfer at Vancouver, a few weeks ago, by B.C. Forest Products.

President Jubenville stated that 50 tenders were submitted for the contract, which is believed to involve an approximate gross sum of $1,000,000.

CONFERENCE TOLD

'Russian Church Desires Unity'

Man Impaired After Crash, Doctor Says

A 20-year-old driver was impaired by alcohol an hour after he was involved in a fatal accident June 14, a doctor testified Wednesday.

Dr. E. L. McNiven was giving evidence at a preliminary hearing into a charge of criminal negligence against Larry Neil, 242 Glenairle.

Neil Kirby, 19, of 110 Medina, died in the accident at Tolmie and Maple. The driver of the other car involved, Mrs. Ruth Kirkpatrick, 21, of 615 Kent, is still in hospital with injuries.

Dr. McNiven said Neil's speech was slurred and he swayed as he walked when the doctor examined him in the early hours of June 14.

Another witness at the hearing, G. L. Curry, 824 Tolmie, said he was playing the organ in his home early in the morning when he saw a car travelling along Rose Street towards Tolmie at a speed he estimated at 50 mph.

He said he saw the car go through the stop sign and out of sight. Then he heard "quite a crash."

Mrs. L. E. Young, 3212 Maple, also told the court she heard a crash and, when she looked out her bedroom window, saw a car in the driveway.

She said someone shouted to her to telephone for an ambulance and the car then reversed out of the driveway.

As it left the scene, she said, she saw beer bottles either roll out or being thrown out of the car. One body was lying by the driveway and two others on the other side of the street, she said.

The preliminary hearing was adjourned until Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

Castle Builders Compete In City Parks

Sandcastles and other flora and fauna natural to sand boxes will sprout overnight in city parks.

The annual sandbox display held as part of Victoria's summer supervised playground program, will take place Friday afternoon from 1:30 on.

Judges from the city parks department and T. Eaton Co. will view the entries by the children in nine city parks. First and second prize will be awarded to the best displays.

Redfern Park will present a display of "Architecture yesterday and today," with modes of building in history constructed solely out of sand.

Other parks will display models of ferries, buildings and even relief maps of Vancouver Island.

Two U.S. National Guardsmen attempt to subdue white man during racial free-for-all in front of armory in Cambridge, Md. Wednesday night. Battle erupted after minor traffic

RCMP HUNT ESCAPEE

RCMP are conducting an Island-wide search for a man who escaped early this morning from William Head minimum security establishment.

Clarence Anderson, 45, was reported missing from his quarters at 4 a.m., and police immediately were notified.

The escapee, sentenced on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit an indictable offence in Vancouver, was known to have lived for some time in Nanaimo.

Anderson is described as short and slight—about five feet four inches in height and 152 pounds.

Relax, America Willie No Threat

LONDON (Reuters)—A Labor member of Parliament promised Chicago Wednesday night that British Communist Party President William Gallagher, 81, will not "seize power" during a visit there.

"Chicago is quite safe. Willie has lived in Paisley, Scotland for 50 years and there's no Communist member on the town council. He will hardly be able to seize power in three weeks."

Reports from Washington said the state department has restored his visa for the proposed trip after it was withdrawn last week just before he was due to leave to see his 75-year-old sister.

An official at the U.S. embassy here said:

"We have had a telephone call from Washington saying that after a full investigation, Mr. Dean Rusk, the secretary of state, is satisfied there is no security risk involved in Mr. Gallagher's visit."

$1 INVESTMENT WILL 'DO IN' A FAMILY

Deadly Poisons for Sale

By LESLIE MILLIN
First of Two Articles

How much death can you buy for a dollar?

In Victoria today, you can buy enough to do in a small family and one or two friends.

If you have about $10 to invest, you can buy enough to kill everybody on your block.

You need no prescription, because the deadly chemicals in question can be bought at most supermarkets, any department store, any garden shop—no questions asked.

And if you're sufficiently subtle about using them, no one will ever guess the real cause of death, or suspect you.

What could be more innocent than buying weedkiller?

Concern over the use of poisons to kill weeds and insects is nothing new.

No Questions Asked

People have been protesting the widespread use of chemicals as malathion and DDT for years, believing that the balance of nature might be upset by the injection of new chemicals into the cycle of life.

But a report to President J. F. Kennedy some weeks ago on the use of insecticides pointed out there were more immediate results.

There were 100 known cases of death due to insecticide poisoning in the United States last year.

Not many, considering the U.S. population of nearly 200,000,000, said some.

But these were known cases—and doctors have no hesitation in saying that the vast majority of deaths due to poisoning by weed or bug killers are never even suspected.

It takes such minute quantities to kill that unless specifically looked for, they are almost never noticed.

To underline the danger, a two-year-old girl died in a Vancouver hospital last weekend, after doctors worked six days to save her life.

She had swallowed three-quarters of an ounce of a garden spray containing malathion, and not even immediate attention—her father is a doctor—and the most modern drugs could save her.

The same concoction she swallowed can be bought in Victoria today. It costs a dollar and a half for 15 ounces.

Half a gallon of it costs $9.98.

Malathion is related to nerve gases, like the mustard gas used in the First World War.

This is what Dr. Peter Cooper's book, "Poisoning by Drugs and Chemicals," has to say about its effects:

"Headache, dizziness, general weakness; eye impairment, tremors, vomiting.

HAMILTON, Ont.—Forty children in a nature study class got a valuable lesson Wednesday — in human nature.

The Royal Botanical Gardens, which has conducted children's conservation classes for the last six summers, separated the children into four groups and set off on a two-mile hike into the forest and marsh in suburban Westdale.

The first leader scratched around in the mud beside a stream and, with 10 beaming faces looking on, produced a handful of small, round, white objects.

"These are turtle eggs, and we were very lucky to find them," the leader said. He explained that the female turtle laid her eggs in the mud in May and, if they escaped the notice of forest marauders, they would probably hatch in 90 days or even next spring.

Then the children went on a marsh where adult turtles sunned themselves on partially submerged logs. Each of the other children's groups was also shown the six white eggs.

But three of the more inquisitive children wanted a better look and went back. They dug up the egg cache, and one yelled: "Mine was made in England."

Officials of the Botanical Gardens admitted later that they had searched for two hours Tuesday for turtle eggs and couldn't find any.

They needed the mud with ping pong balls.

"I sandpapered the labels off all the balls but one," said chief conservator John Lamoureux. "We're trying to teach them to know nature, and I guess so far we've succeeded."

KANSAS CITY—Rev. N. J. Ezekiel, head of the Lutheran Church of India, is puzzled by one aspect of American life. "With so much wealth in your country, with so much money to buy beautiful cloth," he said Wednesday at a church conference, "I'm surprised American girls and women wear their skirts so short."

NEWPORT, R.I.—The cabin cruiser Jamibuspibigagly-V docked here Wednesday. "I think somebody got the name fouled up, it's your mistake."

It really is Jamibuspibigagly-V, owned by Joseph A. Michael II, president of the Michael Bus Line in Salem, Mass.

Michael said the boat was named by combining the first syllable of each first name or nickname of the members of his family. He and his wife have seven children.

DAVENTRY, England—Two argumentative women have been ordered not to talk to each other for a year.

The sentence was imposed by a third woman, Mrs. Winifred Deterding, Daventry magistrate.

She heard that Mrs. Margaret Hickman, 56, and Mrs. Eileen Jones, 36, started fighting after a row about their children.

Mrs. Hickman testified: "Mrs. Jones caught my hair and knocked me down. I fell on my head and had to stay in bed for two weeks."

Mrs. Jones testified: "She punched me on the nose. What I did was in self defence."

Along with the no-talking edict, Mrs. Deterding handed out fines of £3 each.

NEW YORK—Douglas (Wrong-Way) Corrigan rode a jet the right way Wednesday and arrived at Idlewild Airport on the 25th anniversary of his topsy turvy flight.

Corrigan stood beside the sleek jet that sped him from the west coast in less than five hours and recalled the tiny monoplane, Curtis Robin, in which he flew to fame across the Atlantic a quarter of a century ago.

sweating . . . possible coma and heartblock. One grain will cause alarming effects."

The dead girl swallowed about 20 times that much.

One of the most effective pest killers on the market contains three active ingredients: Lindane, malathion and DDT.

This is what Dr. Cooper's book says about them:

Lindane is readily absorbed through the skin when mixed with a solvent for spraying. It causes convulsions and death, if about an ounce is taken into the body.

Malathion's effects were described already.

DDT Worst of All

And DDT has the most devastating effects of all. It causes nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea, convulsions and lung or heart failure.

This combination will kill "aphids, red spiders, lawn moths, earwigs, ants, thrips, flies, meal bugs and other pests," says the label.

Not included in the label's cheery message is what it will do to children.

In fact, if you read the labels on cans of pesticides carefully, you will find some perfunctory instructions about not using them.

Charges Studied

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Chevrier announced in the Commons today that special counsels are being appointed immediately to consider whether criminal charges should be laid as a result of waterfront lawlessness.

Mr. Chevrier said the action is being taken as proposed by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris in his report on labor strife and shipping disruptions on the Great Lakes.

Ferries Operate At Full Strength

The government ferry service will be in full fleet again Saturday.

All schedules will be back to normal with completion of repairs to three vessels.

The Pender Queen, taken off the Gulf Islands-Swartz Bay route after she hit a rock in Hope Bay, will start service again tonight.

The Queen of Tsawwassen, which has been undergoing an engine overhaul at Deas Island, will return Saturday morning.

'STUPID STATEMENT' SAYS UNION OFFICIAL

OTTAWA (CP)—Michael against the SIU as recommended by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris.

SHEEHAN blasts own leader

Mr. Sheehan, a former lieutenant of Hal C. Banks in the Seafarers' International Union of Canada, was unseated as CMU president earlier this year and replaced by John Staples, a 30-year-old Port Colborne sailor.

In a telegram to Labor Minister MacEachen, Mr. Sheehan said he wanted to apologize on behalf of rank-and-file CMU members for a "thoughtless, stupid, irresponsible statement" made by the CMU.

He was obviously referring to Mr. Staples' threat to close the St. Lawrence Seaway to force government action Throughout East Asia the Buddhist faithful are furious with the Roman Catholic Diem for his alleged suppression of their comrades—who make up about 80 per cent of the South Vietnamese population of 13,000,000.

A spokesman for Maj.-Gen. Amin Hafez, strongman of the Syrian Army, went on Damascus radio and declared that the revolt was finished and the situation was under control.

"A band of plotters consisting of a number of civilians supported by a small number of discharged military men made an abortive attempt to disturb peace in the Damascus district," Hafez said.

BAND CRUSHED

"This band was beaten and crushed and the rest of the elements gave up. Nothing has happened to disturb order in the other districts of Syria."

"The plotters will be turned over to the national security courts."

The announcement was broadcast after Damascus radio was strangely silent for two hours.

Diplomatic reports reaching Beirut said that tanks, automatic weapons and small arms had been in action in the capital earlier while the plotters tried to seize the army headquarters and radio station.

The restored radio then began rolling out messages of support from the army, as well as a pledge of military aid from Iraq, whose leaders are partners with the Syrians in the Ba'ath Socialist party.

Mr. Beatty, immediate past president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, said that there may be some cushioning effect by increased short-term borrowing by Canadians to replace their long-term borrowing in the U.S. (Short-term borrowings are not subject to the tax).

Murray Sinclair, Midland Securities Corporation, said President Kennedy has done what Finance Minister Gordon attempted to do in his budget.

He added:

"Gordon tried to eliminate the U.S. investor. Kennedy has done just that."

Mr. Sinclair predicted that the Canadian market will see a slow death unless it establishes a lower level where Canadians may buy the available stocks.

Greeks to Vote

ATHENS, Greece (Reuters)—General elections will be held in Greece between Oct. 20 and 31, the prime minister of the caretaker cabinet, Panayotis Pipinelis, announced in parliament Wednesday night. He said the exact date (which must be a Sunday) will be set by King Paul after passage of a bill enforcing a new electoral law.

And down at the bottom in small type, the labels carry the warning that the buyer is entirely responsible for risk to persons or property arising out of the use or handling of the can's contents.

And the risks can be considerable.

Can Penetrate Skin

You don't have to swallow these killer chemicals.

They have been designed to go after pests and plants by strangling them, cutting off the intake of needed chemicals—like oxygen.

So you can take them into your body by breathing, by skin contact, as well as by swallowing.

So that lawns sprayed to kill either bugs or weeds can be dangerous to children who walk across them barefoot.

Insect sprays in a confined area can be equally dangerous.

Deposits of the poisons build up in the body over lengthy exposure, causing heart attacks, or lung trouble.

Or the substance you take in might be metaldehyde used in weedkillers.

Metaldehyde builds up in the body until it reaches a critical level. Just how it gets in is not too certain.

But when it reaches a critical level, it causes vomiting, twitching, convulsions, and death in about five hours.

Car Crushes Baby

TORONTO (CP)—A 15-month-old boy was crushed to death Wednesday when a car with a dead man at the wheel tore the baby's stroller from the hands of its mother and slammed it against a concrete pillar.

Mr. Chevrier said the action is being taken as proposed by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris in his report on labor strife and shipping disruptions on the Great Lakes.

Arthur Mayse

It isn't often that I find myself in critics' row for the drama of dawn, but late on in the night something twanged our window screen—bat, perhaps, or misdirected owl—and we came wide awake with thoughts of coffee.

Our house is long and low, and faces east above Haro Strait. I opened the curtains and all was still, cool and dim. But not dark. The night was over. This was the hiatus between night and morning, a grey time with the day birds still asleep.

By the time I came back with coffee, the grey had acquired a quality of luminosity. Color as such was still subdued; it was a matter of depth and tone: pearl at the zenith shading to dulled silver, then the black intervening land mass of San Juan Island, and under it the day birds still asleep.

The luminous light deepens, seeming to pour up from the sea and down from a clear sky. This is the interval when everything stands out sharp-edged. The three tatter-limbed balsams to the left of our property line look like picture trees from a Japanese scroll. On the right, the big fir with the shattered top looms stark above an unformed mass of what by full daylight will be maple and arbutus crowns.

From the extreme southeast, away down past humped Mount Baker in the direction of castellated Rainier, a red stain is now spreading. The time is 4:30.

So much for the first act. It has built slowly, scene by scene. The orchestration that paced it, no more than a few isolated bird-calls at first, has become an exuberant chorus.

The second act in the miracle of day returning is my favorite. It combines in exquisite proportion color, light and sound.

The red flush spreads, an infusion that moves up and out from behind the Cascade summits to tint a shoal of fanning-mallow clouds an impossible pink.

The water has changed from steel to argent, bright in these moments as if someone had been busy out there with a polishing cloth. There's the feel of change and stir; finishing our coffee and the inevitable cigarette, we wonder if we shouldn't get up and trundle our trailer-boat to Telegraph Cove or Smugglers.

But we speculate the notion away, and fall to watching man's first entry on the pre-sunrise scene. A small towboat, very black against all that silver, inches in from the right. It has a long line out; the clouds are properly afire before its scow creeps into view.

With its coming, the nature of the play changes. A fishcrow sets up a scofflaw jeering, and on the orchard lawn next door, a cock pheasant answers with three hearty brays of his klaxon.

The final act opens rather flatly. The cherubic pink has faded from the clouds, and the silver of the strait has dulled.

Also, the bird-song is much less concerted than it was half an hour ago. By five o'clock it has settled to the occasional twitter and chirp which will continue until early dusk.

Except for one not over-spectacular development in the northeast, the play would seem to be over.

But the climax is still to come, and that concentration of light over the skinny end of San Juan heralds it. If you stare hard, you can see the light-rays beginning to fan and spear upward as if fed from a holocaust below.

Suddenly, startlingly, a pinpoint of crimson flame breaks through. The burning spot becomes a crescent which humps and swells, its red tinctured with orange. The pheasant repeats his harsh three-note salute. Second by second, the sun rolls over the island ridge; a half-round, then a disc that clears the barrier to hang improbably huge an inch above the horizon.

The rays shoot level. The orange becomes gold, and a burnished path moves west across the water-plain. All in a moment, the sun is risen, too bright to be gazed upon longer.

At one surge, color returns to our world. Leaves glisten. Each blade of grass is tipped with a diamond of dew. The flowers glow brighter than they will later in the day.

It is now 5:45, the sun ten minutes risen and the drama of day reborn completed. Its epilogue is a milk truck clattering into a driveway. We'll pay for our watching with a drowsy afternoon, but believe me, the play was worth it!

Artful Ned's Notion Breeds Shaggy Sprite

Sprite, a two-day-old mule, of the Island, but it may well be followed by a second and a third.

Neddy was not available for interview at the Phillips' Gulch turkey farm off Humpback Road. Sprite is the offspring of mare named Miranda, whose name is taken from Shakespeare's play The Tempest.

Sprite's name has a connection with another character in the play — Ariel, the spirit who talks to the shipwrecked mariners.

But Sprite was sired by a donkey with the ordinary name of Neddy.

Neddy, bought as a pet, was "never really accepted by the mares" on the Phillips farm, says Mrs. Phillips.

Toll Theft Report Incomplete

The attorney-general's department has asked the RCMP for additional information on its investigation into alleged thefts from the Toll Authority system.

An RCMP report was turned over to the department after the investigation was completed Wednesday, said Inspector George McKay.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said his officials had asked for more information today.

He said he had received "no reliable estimate" of the amount of money missing.

So far, he added, he has not been advised of any recommendation for criminal action, but it could come as a result of further study by department officials.

Mr. Bonner said he expects the extra information will be available by sometime early next week.

In the meantime he was unable, he said, to disclose any details of the report.

The investigation was sparked by charges from Jack Washer, fired by the Toll Authority as manager of its Nainaimo terminal.

Mr. Washer said one of his toll collectors had been stealing on the job.

Provincial premiers or their representatives have been invited to talks starting July 26.

"As far as I know no such invitation has reached here," said Mr. Black.

He said he had no plans to attend.

He suggested that Premier Bennett might have been asked, but the premier is away from his office today.

Mr. Black today was mystified about a federal-provincial conference planned next week to discuss Ottawa's new municipal loan plan.

He noted the chamber had a $2,200 loss last year.

The $2,500 city grant is a good investment to answer all the inquiries they get about Victoria," he said.

Committee members had been concerned that this service overlaps with tourist bureau inquiries, but were satisfied there is need of both.

Comptroller James Bramley pointed out that the chamber owes money for its share of downtown decorative Christmas lighting for 1961, although the 1962 bill has been paid.

Same Drivers Hauling Pulp For New Firm

DUNCAN — Local 180, IWA president, Weldon Jubenville, and IWA, financial secretary Ed Linder, returned from Vancouver, Tuesday, after signing a one-year contract with the Arrow Steel Erectors on behalf of Hearsey Transport Limited, of Duncan.

Drivers of the company, who will haul chips from the Youbou sawmill to the Crofton pulp mill until the end of the month, will continue the job in August under the Arrow contract.

A five-year chip hauling contract was awarded to the new firm, a subsidiary of Arrow Transfer at Vancouver, a few weeks ago, by B.C. Forest Products.

President Jubenville stated that 50 tenders were submitted for the contract, which is believed to involve an approximate gross sum of $1,000,000.

The boy, 10, here from Vancouver with his parents, knew the sound was too loud to have been made by a fish.

He turned and saw two small children struggling in the five-foot-deep water by the wharf. One child had slipped in and pulled the other with him.

Donald leaped into the water and grabbed the children — Michael, 2, and Paul, 4, sons of Qualicum motel operator Martin Lukaitis.
